Easter Bunny Wears Olive Drab For Visit To Xenia

XENIA, Ohio (AP) — The Easter Bunny in Xenia may be wearing olive drab and riding in a jeep.

The Ohio National Guard said Friday its 178 military policemen in Xenia are preparing about 90 dozen eggs for the holiday. Saturday night patrols will be doubled, with four men on patrol instead of two, the guard said.

Two of the guardsmen will be dropping Easter baskets on doorsteps. One guardsman said headquarters was looking for costumes, but he didn't know if the military police would be wearing fluffy ears and cotton tails on patrol.

The Red Cross also announced plans for parties and egg hunts in its disaster shelters on Easter.

An Akron candy merchant said he's sending 3,700 pounds of jellybeans to Xenia children. Bill Honadle said that "any little bit that we could do we felt would be important to them."

The Ohio Department of Highway Safety said Friday that it is authorizing special temporary auto license tags for persons whose car titles were lost in the tornado.

Director Fred Viewor said the temporary tags will be issued free and be good through June 15.

And Gov. John J. Gilligan urged sightseers to stay away from Xenia. He said visitors will get in the way of cleanup operations and "can only create more hardship for the citizens of Xenia, who have suffered far too much already."

In other developments Friday, the Department of Housing and Urban Development said it has reviewed 1,093 applications for temporary housing from tornado victims and found 432 eligible for free housing for up to a year.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare said it will provide day care facilities 14 hours a day for children whose parents were affected by the tornado.

In Lancaster, high school students said doughnut sales, lollipop auctions and student donations have raised more than $1,000 for the tornado victims.

An associate dean at Ohio State University, Dr. William H. Watson, on Friday issued a statement supporting the rebuilding of Central State University.

"As long as there is a black family, a black church and a black community, there will be a need for black higher education," Watson said. He is a member of the school's coordinating council for minority problems.

The statement referred to reports the state might not be able to afford rebuilding the school, which serves primarily black students.

Hearst Fears Harmful FBI Action

LA PAZ, Mexico (AP) — Randolph A. Hearst says he is worried that his kidnaped daughter Patricia could get killed during a rescue attempt by the FBI.

"I know I cannot control the FBI, but I certainly hope that even if they know where Patty is they will not go in with guns blazing and get my daughter killed," he said in an interview here Friday.

But Hearst added that he and the FBI have reached agreement that any police action which might endanger Patricia would be avoided.

"Our absence from the United States should not be construed by the FBI as an excuse to do anything which would endanger the life or well being of Patty," said the president and editor of the San Francisco Examiner.

Miss Hearst, 20, was dragged screaming by kidnapers from her Berkeley, Calif., apartment on Feb. 4. Two months later, after her parents had organized a massive food giveaway in response to the kidnapers' demands, Patricia said in a taped message that she had joined the Symbionese Liberation Army which abducted her.

The Hearsts have said they believe the tape recording was made under duress.

FHA Interest Rate Increases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal interest rate ceiling on government-backed mortgage loans will jump from 8 1/4 to 8 1/2 per cent Monday, matching an all-time high.

James T. Lynn, secretary of housing and urban development, announced the quarter per cent rise in the ceiling on Federal Housing Administration and Veteran's Administration loans Friday night, saying the change was necessary because of higher interest rates across the economy.

"I have reluctantly taken this step because it is vital to keep the FHA as an available, practical, mortgage money source for American home buyers," Lynn said.

President Relaxes For Easter

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon is at his bayside home here for a quiet Easter weekend. Aides said they could cite no urgent business needing his attention and expected no official visitors.

During Nixon's afternoon flight to Florida on Friday, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told newsmen aboard Air Force One that his boss would not be devoting much time to his promised response to a House Judiciary Committee subpoena for additional presidential tapes and documents. This question is being handled by aides in Washington, he said.

Asked if Nixon might not consider his strategy in dealing with the subpoena, Ziegler said the President already has decided upon his strategy. He apparently referred to Thursday's White House announcement that Nixon would provide some unspecified additional materials for the House impeachment inquiry during the week of May 21.

The presidential spokesman said he expected Nixon to handle official business during the mornings while here and devote much of the rest of each day to rest and relaxation.

Flying to Florida with Nixon were wife Pat, daughter Tricia and her husband, Edward Cox. Daughter Julie and son-in-law David Eisenhower drove to Phoenixville, Pa., to spend Easter with his parents.

Ziegler said the first family would attend Easter services in the area. The Nixons are expected to return to Washington on Monday or Tuesday.

and pay taxes owed for the four-year period.

The $39.17 penalty is for failing to file a return for 1970. Huff said the penalty was levied because it was obvious Nixon had enough California-based income to require a return.

But failure to file a return, in itself, does not constitute criminal negligence or fraud, he told a news conference.

"There has to be some evidence or indication of wilfulness and all the evidence was the other way around," Huff said. Failure to file "is not necessarily a criminal matter if he didn't believe he had a requirement to file, and that isn't the situation."

The New York State Tax Department is studying the possibility Nixon owes back taxes in that state.

Easter Observed Around World

By JULIE FLINT
Associated Press Writer

Pope Paul VI set today aside to rest as he prepared to celebrate Easter services Sunday at St. Peter's Basilica and to give his annual "Urbi and Orbi" blessing to Rome and the world.

On Friday the 76-year-old pontiff braved a chilly, windy evening as he made his annual Way of the Cross pilgrimage on Rome's Palatine Hill.

Pope Paul had been advised by doctors to cut back his Holy Week scheduled following two recent bouts with influenza, but he insisted on taking part in the hour-long outdoor ceremony.

However, he passed up traditional Good Friday services in St. Peter's and Vatican officials said he will not attend the Easter vigil mass tonight.

The pope, dressed only in red robes of mourning, watched the procession for the first nine of the 14 Stations of the Cross. Then he took up the six-foot cross of light wood and carried it for 15 minutes.

Applauding and shouting "Viva Il Papa," thousands lined the barricades for a glimpse of the spiritual leader of the Roman Catholic Church.

Pope Paul looked fit though at times his voice was weak as he urged Catholics in a 10-minute address not to forget "the abject, the deformed, the weeping and the unhappy."

The Western Christian celebration of Easter coincides this year with Eastern rites, and Ecumenical Patriarch Demetrios I, the spiritual leader of 250 million Eastern Orthodox Christians, urged the unity to become permanent.

In an Easter encyclical, the patriarch called for a panChristian agreement setting a single date for the holy day to signify that "our resurrected common Lord ... is one, that His body the church is one, and that Christian Easter is one."

The Patriarch of Constantinople — Istanbul — also called for continued Israeli supervision of the Christian holy places in Jerusalem, keeping them open to persons of all faiths.

In Jerusalem, a heavier than normal Israeli guard was posted out of fear of Arab guerrilla action as thousands of Christian pilgrims took up wooden crosses, re-enacting Christ's walk to his crucifixion.

Wounded U.S. Official Freed By Guerillas

CORDOBA, Argentina (AP) — American official Alfred Albert Laun III, who was seriously wounded and held for 15 hours Friday by Marxist guerrillas, was reported improving today after 2 1/2 hours of emergency surgery.

The U.S. Information Service official was rushed to a hospital after the guerrillas called newspapers and said Laun was lying near the River Primero in midtown Cordoba. Reporters found him with a bullet wound in his stomach and badly beaten about the head.

Hospital sources said the damage done the bullet had been repaired, but the doctors' main worry now was the possibility of infection because of the many hours Laun lay wounded without medical attention.

The sources said Laun was in "serious to fair condition." Laun, 36, a native of Kiel, Wis., was seized at his isolated home in suburban Unquillo by nine guerrillas of the outlawed People's Revolutionary Army. He was wounded by gunfire when he resisted his abductors.

Laun, who is single, has been in the central city of Cordoba for about 20 months as chief of the USIS office here.

His kidnapers had said he would be submitted to a "revolutionary tribunal" for alleged "counter-revolutionary activities" in earlier USIS assignments in Santo Domingo, Saigon, Brazil and Bolivia.

The guerrillas apparently kept him alive by administering drugs and then abandoned him with three bottles of blood plasma attached to his body. They left him between two trucks near the river and telephoned local newspapers to tell them where they could find him.

Reporters reached Laun moments before a police ambulance arrived and carried him to the Reina Fabiola hospital of the Catholic University of Cordoba.

U.S. officials in Buenos Aires said a plane was being sent to evacuate Laun if necessary.

Hospital sources said Laun had received a .45-caliber bullet wound in his abdomen, and his eyes were blackened by blows to the head.

The newsmen who found Laun said his first words to them were: "Are you friends?"

They answered him: "Don't worry, nothing is going to happen."

The newsmen said a note was pinned to Laun, explaining what medication had been given him during captivity.

Israelis Invade Lebanese Villages

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israeli army units blew up 20 houses in six villages in southern Lebanon on Friday and captured about 10 suspected terrorists in retaliation for the Arab terrorist massacre at Qiryat Shmonah, the military command announced today.

In Beirut, Lebanese defense minister Nasri Maalouf said a woman and her 10-year-old daughter were killed in the raid. Their bodies were found in the rubble of a demolished house, police said.

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said the raid was a "political action" to warn the Lebanese government. He said the Israeli raiders cleared all Arab residents out of the houses before blowing them up, and if two civilians were killed "it was by accident."

In the stiffest warning he has ever issued to Lebanon, Dayan said: "If the Lebanese government allows terrorist headquarters to enjoy their freedom and conveniences in Beirut and at night they cross the border into Israel, I think that eventually a good part of Lebanon will be destroyed and deserted."

A Lebanese communique said that 13 civilians were seized and 24 houses and a power station were blown up.

Beirut press reports said villagers were told the 13 men would be held hostage in exchange for the return of two Israeli pilots captured after bailing out over Lebanon on Monday while returning from the Syrian front.

The Israeli command said the strike force evacuated and blew up 20 houses allegedly belonging to guerrilla sympathizers, and returned safely before midnight after a three-hour operation.

An Israeli military correspondent who accompanied the raiders said the villagers showed no signs of fear, and "some even cooperated with the Israelis."

He quoted one of the Israeli commanders as saying: "Everything went smoothly, proving it possible to deal blows at the terrorists and their collaborators without harming innocent civilians."

No Potato Chip Lawsuit Planned

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Associated Press reported erroneously Friday that the Cleveland-based Potato Chip Institute International is suing Proctor & Gamble over its Product called Pringle's Newfangled Potato Chip.

The Associated Press reported that Larry Burch of Kirtland, institute vice president, said the organization is suing Proctor & Gamble. When the statement was questioned and Burch couldn't be reached, William V. Levy, the institute's public relations officer, said the institute isn't suing the firm and hasn't done so.

Levy said the U.S. Food and Drug Administration decided last fall, following what Levy called pressure from the institute, that the FDA would establish what name is to be used for products such as Pringle's, which is made from dehydrated potatoes. That determination is still pending, Levy said.

Weather

Partly cloudy and mild through Sunday with chances of showers or thundershowers mainly in the afternoon and evening. High today, upper 70s. Low, low 50s. High Sunday near 70. Probability of precipitation, 40 per cent today, 30 per cent tonight and 40 per cent tomorrow. Temperatures Friday were: high, 72; low, 57.

Nixon Must Pay California Taxes

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California officials say they haven't found any evidence of criminal negligence or fraud in President Nixon's failure to file state income tax returns for 1969-72.

The state announced Friday it is requiring Nixon to submit the returns now and pay $4,263.72 in back taxes, a penalty of $39.17 and as much as $1,000 in interest on the taxes due.

The decision came in the wake of a congressional report that claims Nixon owes about $465,000 in back taxes. The White House has said Nixon will pay the federal tax bill.

Meanwhile, the State of New York says it also is looking into Nixon's 1969-70 tax status.

Dean Butler, Nixon's California tax lawyer, said the state bill would be paid, although he disagreed with some of the findings of the California Franchise Tax Board.

Taxes owed were computed by the panel on the basis of a report by the congressional Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation.

At the White House, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren did not say whether Nixon would pay the California taxes or contest the state's findings.

"We will wait until we hear from the State Franchise Tax Board directly," Warren said.

The California decision was announced by Martin Huff, executive officer of the board which administers the state income tax. He said the President would promptly file returns

Feed Grain Stocks In Short Supply

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture
Stocks of feed grains, including corn, are expected to dip to the lowest level since the early 1950's. This is because feed grain use during the current marketing year will exceed 1973 production, according to Herbert Hadley, Extension Economist at The Ohio State University.
However, the economist points out, the strong demand and high prices that have been experienced will probably trigger a boost in spring plantings of corn and other feed grains. He expects the resulting production to exceed needs for the 1974-75 season.

If farmers have favorable weather and enough fertilizer to plant the 126 million acres indicated in the March planting intentions report, feed grain production would be up nearly 10 per cent over 1973. Plans include 78.8 million acres of corn nationally, an increase of 10 per cent. If the projected yield of 97 bushels per acre is achieved, a resulting corn crop of 6.6 billion bushels would exceed 1973 corn production by 9 per cent.
Corn demand is projected for 1974-75 at 6.1 billion bushels. A carryover of 500 to 600 million bushels is forecast for the current market year. This means total supplies of corn could exceed use by about one billion bushels.

Much uncertainty revolves around corn yields with higher priced inputs, however. Nitrogen fertilizer prices range from 70 to 125 per cent above last year, with availability a problem tending to suggest lower yields. Gasoline and diesel fuel prices have increased from 60 to 100 per cent. Land values and rents have skyrocketed. Last year's wet weather delayed planting, a condition which if avoided will tend to encourage extra corn acreage and higher yields. Another important factor is the relationship between corn and soybean prices. With a soybean price two times the corn price, returns are comparable, the economist reveals.

Soybean supplies for the current market year are expected to exceed disappearance, with carryover being near 240 million bushels. For the past three years, use has exceeded current production. March 1, 1974, intentions indicated a 4 per cent decrease in acreage over last year, or 55 million acres. Assuming normal yields, a 1.43 billion bushel crop plus carryover would mean a 1.77 billion bushel supply of soybeans. Projecting use at 1.5 billion bushels for 1974-75 would leave carryover stocks of 170 million bushels, Hadley says.

News For Homemakers

By BEVERLY BECHTEL
County Extension Agent,
Home Economics

People have been giving hard cooked (not boiled!) eggs, all decorated in springy designs, since 722 B. C. in China. The world over, homemakers are joining you in this seasonal lighthearted festivity for many cultural reasons. What do you do with all those eggs after Easter morning? We have a booklet called "Eggs in Family Meals" which includes a lot of information and recipes on these little protein nuggets. It's free if you'll call 474-7534 or write us at 137 W. Franklin Street, Circleville.

How do you like those sewn-in permanent care and laundering instructions in the clothing you buy? The Federal Trade Commission issued a rule in December, 1971, that all textile items of wearing apparel, and all piece goods sold for wear, must have these care labels. Now the F. T. C. wants to hear from you. Are the clothes you buy labeled properly with laundering instructions? Do you get your care label with fabric you buy? (You shouldn't have to ask for it - it's part of your purchase.) Is the information clear? Are the right instructions being used? Are instructions complete? The F. T. C. is concerned about how their rule is being applied and if it truly is helping you, the homemaker and laundry boss. If you have comments, jot them down while you're waiting for the dryer to finish. Send them to: Bureau of Consumer Protection, Federal Trade Commission, Washington, D. C. 20580.

Do you have a garment or piece of fabric which somehow got separated from its fiber content label? How can you tell if it's wool, polyester, or what? Here are some simple home chemistry tests to tell the fiber content. Touch a burning match to a scrap of the fabric and watch it burn. Wool will burn slowly and leave a soft black carbon ash. And you will be able to smell a "hair burning" aroma. If you don't know what burning hair smells like, you've never lighted an old gas oven, have you? Polyester burns slow and melts, leaving a hard black round ash. Nylon melts very slowly and leaves a

Garden Soils Subject To Insects

County Extension Agent
Agriculture

New gardens or expansion of old ones may bring on problems with soil insects.

Richard L. Miller, Extension Entomologist at The Ohio State University, says an area that has been in sod two or more years can be infested with as many as 10 different soil insects. Naturally, these insects live and feed on grass roots each year, with many of them rarely causing extensive damage, he says. But, when you destroy the sod to make room for a new garden or to expand your old one, these insects (in the soil) will complete their development on the roots of your vegetables, Miller says.

To prevent damage to vegetables, the soil should be treated as soon as weather permits working the soil with an insecticide such as chlordane. Plow or spade the garden area soil. Then apply chlorane at the rate of 4 tablespoons of the 72 per cent liquid concentrate per 1000 square feet of garden soil. Mix the four tablespoons of chemical in enough water to thoroughly cover the 1000 square foot area. Work the insecticide into the soil to five inches. If chlordane is used, all vegetables may be planted safely except carrots and pumpkins, Miller says.

Spectracide (25 per cent liquid concentrate) may be used instead of chlordane. Use this one at the rate of 12 tablespoons per 1000 square feet of garden soil. Do not plant eggplants, pumpkins, or rutabagas in spectracide treated soils.

Spectracide controls insects in the soil for one season, while chlordane will do the job two or more years.

Bulletin 498, Home Vegetable Garden Insect Control, available at the County Extension Office, contains this information and other vegetable gardening insect control information.

hard grey ash. Acrylic will burn and melt, leaving a hard black ash, a bit more quickly than polyester. Acrylic will turn a darker shade if you put a hot steam iron on it.

This is supposed to be spring, the season of cleaning products and handling pesticides around many homes. At any time of year, most families have poisonous products around the home that can harm or kill children. Special hospitals and clinics in Ohio serve as "Poison Control Centers" where you can call for the latest information in case a family member has somehow taken a poisonous product. The nearest to us is the Poison Control Center at Children's Hospital, 561 S. 17th Street, Columbus. In case of poison, call 614-258-9783. Give the name of the product, ingredients if listed, any label information, and how much was taken (if you know). If you go to an emergency room, take the container with you.

Here's another "no-no!" Did you know that over 13,500 people last year had to be rushed to a hospital for emergency treatment for injuries related to gasoline? We all know how nicely gasoline explodes, but did you know that the vapors can also cause an explosion? The gasoline vapors are so volatile that if a storage can is left open in a closed garage, and a cigarette is lighted nearby, an explosion can occur. Even a spark from a household appliance or automobile engine can start a "vapor" fire. Storing gasoline is a "no-no."

Lady Beetles Invading Homes

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

The Lady Bird Beetle, a beneficial insect to mankind, because of its feeding habits which destroys eggs of aphids and many other destructive plant insects, has turned up in homes, offices and other business places.

According to Lawrence J. Connor, Extension Entomologist at The Ohio State University, warm days during spring have caused the beetles to come out of winter hibernation. Many reports reveal over 100 Lady Bird Beetles per window or room. Some large apartments and office buildings have reported hundreds of thousands of these insects invading the buildings.

Homeowners bothered with the beetles may use a vacuum cleaner to capture the insects, and if enough are available, various garden clubs or individual gardeners will buy them for their own gardens. Commercial concerns may require chemical controls to rid buildings of the beetles.

The entomologist says no one can be sure what caused this increase in beetle activity this spring. He believes the weather last summer and fall favored population development and hibernation in homes and other buildings. Warm spring days are bringing the beetles out of hibernation.

Connor points out that Lady Bird Beetles do not bite, sting, have odor, or contaminate food. In a few days the beetles will find their way outside where they will be beneficial to the gardener.

What about the Lady Bird Beetle being nominated as the official Ohio State Insect? Connor believes the beetles have hurt their chances with their sudden invasion of homes and buildings. Personally, Connor likes the honeybee, because he is convinced that Ohio's agricultural economy would collapse without the honeybee and its tremendous role as pollinator of over 50 Ohio crops.

Toledo Tot Drowns At Turtle Point

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP) — John Kettwig, 2, of Toledo, drowned late Thursday at Turtle Point Marina on Locust Point while his parents were helping a friend repair a flood-damaged trailer nearby.

Authorities said the boy wandered away. His body was found in the water a short time later.

GRADUATE—Paul E. Dean, manager of Landmark, Circleville, (right,) receives a diploma upon completion of the Landmark Store Managers School. John Scrafford, Landmark Farm Supply Division sales manager, extends congratulations. The intensive training program covered management techniques, merchandising, ordering, inventory control and product knowledge sessions. Course instructors were Landmark personnel and other business leaders in the Columbus area. Following graduation the class took a two-day tour of Landmark suppliers' manufacturing facilities. They visited the manufacturers of Co-op tires and batteries as well as Unico stock equipment.

Insect And Mite Pests Affect Livestock Yields

County Extension Agent
Agriculture

It is estimated that livestock pests in the United States cause annual losses of 850 million dollars. Since almost 60 per cent of Ohio's agricultural cash receipts come from livestock production, it is essential that insect and mite pests be reduced below levels that cause economic damage.

The attack on insect and mite pests should be maintained throughout the year. Lice and mites are most abundant during the winter, while flies and mosquitoes are most injurious during the summer months. Lice - and mite-infested livestock rub against fences or buildings to relieve irritation. Frequently, patches of hair are rubbed off around the neck, shoulders, and body. Therefore, cattle become weakened and susceptible to disease.

Some flies either withdraw blood or cause annoyance resulting in up to 10 per cent to 15 per cent less milk from dairy animals and 15 to 55 pounds less weight gain in beef animals. Certain flies transmit bacilli of anthrax, infectious keratitis, mastitis, and swollen joints. Other flies congregate in annoying populations within livestock and poultry buildings.

Cattle grubs cause economic losses each year by damaging carcasses and hides. Female heel flies, in attempting to lay eggs, cause livestock to flee in terror and entire herds may stampede.

Sheep ticks (keds), lice, and wool maggots are parasitic on sheep. Infested sheep rub, bite, and scratch to relieve irritation and annoyance.

Louse - and mite-infested wine rub and scratch, resulting in raw, bleeding areas. The hair coat is lost while the skin thickens into wrinkles, and appears scabby. Swine lice can reduce the market value of the animal two to six per cent.

Chicken lice and mites may reduce egg production 40 per cent. Birds go off feed resulting in decreased egg and meat production. Chickens become droopy, develop diarrhea, or often die.

Horses and ponies are especially bothered with flies during the summer months. Blood-sucking flies can cause stampeding, resulting in animal and human accidents.

Today, with proper application and timing of pesticides, it is possible to greatly reduce or eliminate troublesome insect and mite attacks. The pesticides recommended in bulletin 473 available at the County Extension Office are up-to-date and effective. Since pesticide recommendations are revised on an annual basis, it is essential to use only our most current issue of Extension Bulletin 473. Destroy all old copies of the publication.

Gilligan Names 3 To Boards

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan announced today three appointments to technical institute boards in Ohio.

Gilligan named Glenn Roberts, 46, of Newark, to the Licking County Technical Institute board and Rowland J. Purdy, 51, of Fremont, to the board of the Sandusky-Seneca Technical Institute.

Russell E. Gossman of Lima was reappointed to the board of the Allen County Technical Institute.

4-H...People Helping People

By STEVE BARTELS

4-H

Seventy 4-H Junior Leaders from all four school districts in Pickaway County toured the City of Circleville Tuesday, April 9. This tour took them to governmental and service offices of the city and county.

Mayor Frank Barnhill greeted the group at the Circleville Fire Department. The group was then taken through the fire house. Everyone enjoyed seeing all the equipment and learning about the services the fire department offers. The group then toured the Court House learning about the functions of such offices as the Treasurer's Office, Auditor's Office, Recorder, Juvenile Court, Common Pleas Court, and others.

After a break for lunch, the group visited Pickaway County Welfare Department where they learned of the many beneficial services they provide. The Junior Leaders then had the opportunity to talk with the staff of Pickaway County Children Services. The staff explained how they help find homes for orphans, foster homes, help unwed mothers and many other services to the people of Pickaway County.

The Junior Leaders spent the whole day learning of ways Pickaway County and the City of Circleville are really people helping people.

Get big litters of husky pigs... Feed Purina Sow Chow

A sow is a pig factory. She has the big job of producing and nursing two litters of pigs every year.

Like any other factory, she has to have raw ingredients to produce the products (pigs) and maintain the factory (her own body). If she doesn't get proper nutrition, she may actually resorb some pigs into her system, causing you to lose pigs you will never even see; or she may farrow weak, unthrifty litters.

Purina Sow Chow has what it takes to help the sow keep her own body, farrow big litters and have plenty of milk to start them right. Purina Sow Chow is available as a supplement to your grain or as a complete sow ration.

Living Longer At Top

There have been hints from medical researchers in recent years that the old adage about executives having a greater affinity for ulcers than their employees may be short on scientific fact. It could be that under certain circumstances the little fellow worries more than someone on an upper rung of the ladder.

No less an authority on life expectancy than the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. says its studies indicate longevity increases as one rises up through the corporate ranks. Managers age 25-64 have a mortality rate 10 per cent lower than the national average.

Professional and technical people have a 20 per cent lower death rate, according to the insurer. Board chairmen do much better—they have a 31 per cent lower mortality rate. Corporate presidents experienced a rate 42 per cent lower than the average, with executive vice presidents showing the best performance—a 43 per cent lower rate.

The ascendancy of the improvement seems to become unglued somewhere in the upper echelons. When a president has a better life expectancy rate than a board chairman and an executive vice president the best track record of all, the downward side of the peak seems to be reached somewhere in the top offices.

If one assumes the possibility that added responsibility makes for a healthier life, some vice presidents across the land may be wondering how it is they are so healthy and in only number three position on the corporate scale.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, April 13, the 103rd day of 1974. There are 262 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1743, the third American president and author of the Declaration of Independence, Thomas Jefferson, was born in Albemarle County, Virginia.

On this date:

In 1366, King Richard II of England was born.

In 1598, King Henry IV of France signed the edict of Nantes, granting a large measure of religious liberty to the Protestant Huguenots.

In 1776, Gen. George Washington arrived in New York to prepare the city's defense in the Revolutionary War.

In 1943, President Franklin D. Roosevelt dedicated the Jefferson Memorial in Washington.

In 1967, the United States pledged American support for a Latin American common market.

In 1972, President Nixon flew to Ottawa for meetings with Canadian leaders.

Ten years ago ... Sidney Poitier got an Oscar as best actor. He was the first black to receive a top award from the Hollywood Academy.

Five years ago ... Four hijackers diverted a Pan-American jet carrying 91 persons to Cuba.

One year ago ... The White House and the Senate Watergate committee discussed arrangements under which presidential aides would testify publicly.

Today's birthdays: singer Lily Pons is 70 years old. Writer Samuel Beckett is 68.

Thought for today: Common sense and good nature will do a lot to make the pilgrimage of life not too difficult Somerset Maugham.

French Fry Nixon

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — French officials are sore at us, but then they usually are. The knock this time is directed at our leader, Richard Nixon. A "high official" who must be a first cousin of an "unimpeachable source" felt that it was deplorable taste on Mr. Nixon's part to mingle happily with crowds while in Paris to attend Georges Pompidou's funeral services.

Seems he "shamelessly substituted a publicity campaign for the mourning of an entire nation." The "high official" almost seemed to say that RN behaved as if he was running for President ... President of France, that is, instead of staying in Notre Dame Cathedral after Mass.

The President looked buoyant and pressed the flesh of the crowds that swarmed around him probably because that's the first time this sort of thing has happened to him since shortly after his reelection. There were no boos from the excited French people; no banners urging him to drop dead, or worse. There wasn't a single mention of impeachment, tapes, taxes or San Clemente during his Paris weekend.

Except for the reason why he was there, the death of his friend, Pompidou, it must have been the most care-free period he's had in all the long and harrowing months since his Keystone Comedy Kops bungled the bugging of Larry O'Brien's office.

Moreover, he did it without coaching from Dr. Kissinger. And the crowds that greeted him were real, not proselytized by Bob Haldeman's people.

One reason for the sour reaction in high places in Paris — Le Monde called it "The Nixon Festival" — may have been a simple case of jealousy. Nixon was the star of the proceedings, just as Charles de Gaulle dominated the dignitaries who attended the funeral of John F. Kennedy. Representatives of the major powers came to his digs in the U.S. Embassy. It was a subtle deference he was shown. They may have had a good line on how badly he has fared of late, but they know by instant and experience where the power still is in this world. So did the Parisians in the streets.

George R. Clark, a 17-year-old black student, is truly one in a million. His recent election by the Boys Clubs of America to be 1974's Boy of the Year meant that he bested the 1,000,000 members of that fine organization who sought the title.

George bested something else: his environment. He lives with his mother and father in one of the roughest and most decadent neighborhoods of Philadelphia. He is one of five children who have been exposed since birth to all the temptations and diseases and violence of kids in today's slums.

But George overcame. He is senior class president at Thomas A. Edison

High School, president of the Black Student Union, sports editor of the school yearbook and is leading the student body effort in a community-wide drive to build a new school to replace the condemned building in which he is getting his education. George has received 15 college offers, though his high school years have been spent in a neighborhood where the annual dropout rate is 30 per cent.

Boy of the Year title brought him a $4,000 college scholarship from Reader's Digest. He has also earned Good Citizenship Awards for his many community services and has been active in various Model Cities programs. He has also found time to earn seven varsity letters in basketball, track, baseball and cross-country, coaches a girl's softball team, plays guitar, drums and sax, and leads a combo named "The Phonics." He helps support the family by working through his summer vacations.

George is also president of the R. W. Brown Boys' Club Council, a member of the Keystone Club which is composed of older members who take part in community-serving activities (such as trying to clean up his ghetto), and he's a volunteer working in the Club's "Take-a-Brother" program, in which youngsters in need of companionship and guidance are taken into the volunteers' homes. George also helps his mother around the house — a fact that was duly noted when he was presented with the award by President Nixon at the White House.

And that's our "Kids Can't All Be Bad" news for the day.

Find IRS Contact With White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Watergate committee has obtained the name of the former federal tax official alleged to have furnished the White House with tax data on its friends and enemies.

John Caulfield, President Nixon's former law enforcement adviser, named Vernon D. "Mike" Acree, now the U.S. Commissioner of Customs, as his primary IRS contact.

In two interviews, Acree vigorously denied that allegation, saying he had done nothing "venal or illegal," that he could not be considered Caulfield's prime contact and that the information supplied was similar to that given other administrations over the last 20 years.

He described some of Caulfield's testimony as grossly distorted.

In executive-session testimony taken March 23, Caulfield said he was referring to Acree, until recently the assistant IRS commissioner for inspections, when he spoke of "our capability at IRS."

"By that I mean the capability of conferring with Mr. Acree with a view towards seeing whether or not an IRS audit might be accomplished in a legal method without violating the law," the transcript said.

Acree said he did have what he described as a casual, business relationship with Caulfield during a seven-month period of 1971 and had been aware of White House interest in the tax problems of movie star John Wayne.

And he said it would not be possible to initiate an audit for the White House because normal IRS procedure could not be bypassed.

Excerpts from the transcript of

Caulfield's testimony was provided by a source close to the Watergate committee, who said the allegations are under investigation by Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

Caulfield was questioned about Nixon administration documents made public Monday by Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., which indicated great White House interest in the tax problems of Wayne and evangelist Billy Graham as well as newsmen and critics of Nixon policies.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

We call them honorable when we write to them. They are our senators and congressmen. However, what honor do they have for us, the taxpayers?

Why are we in such a mess on the home front? What kind of representation do we have in Washington? Why can't we be given the truth about our problems? Why don't they speak to us? If they want to take a leave of absence from their responsibilities to the people and line up behind the Watergate Committee to impeach the President, then tell us. We the taxpayers, can then say that those representatives have no solution to our problems and they should be removed from office.

What kind of representatives do we have that they do not have the power to rollback the price on living expenses, such as food, gas, clothing. This is more essential than anything else to maintain the minimum standard of living we deserve.

What happened to our tax money? How much of it went to foreign countries? How much was used here at home and for what?

We want to know. What are you, the congressmen and senators, doing to reduce the prices. We don't want promises such as "I will see to that," "I will do that," "I will investigate that." Either accept the responsibilities of your office or get out.

Tax Revenue Shows Increase

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Income from the state income tax is up 23.6 per cent over last year for the first nine months of fiscal 1974, State Treasurer Gertrude Donahey has reported.

In her monthly fiscal report, Mrs. Donahey said the tax, which is in its second year of collection, brought in $316,197,924 between July 1 and March 31.

Overall tax revenues for the state are running 10.4 per cent ahead of last year, the report showed.

Speaking Of Your Health

Burns represent one of the most difficult medical problems the physician has to cope with.

One of the greatest combined social and medical advances is the creation of special burn centers, which are responsible for saving the lives of thousands of people all over the United States.

Dr. Charles Baxter, President of the American Burn Association, points out that there are now more than 90 burn centers, devoted to the treatment of severely burned people.

Highly trained teams of surgeons, physicians, chemists, hematologists, plastic surgeons and psychologists are providing new hope for the survival and rehabilitation of victims of severe burns.

Lady Stearn Robinson, the wife of Sir Robert Robinson, a Nobel prize winner in chemistry, has just made her own contribution to science.

She noted that when she wore gold bracelets or rings some marking developed on her skin. Lady Robinson, a mild diabetic, also noticed that these skin discolorations disappeared when she was receiving insulin for the control of her diabetes.

The British Diabetic Association is doing a study on 50,000 of its members to see if there is any substantiation of this interesting observation.

Recently Madeline Glass, a Swiss-born American, also became involved in the better understanding of the relationship between gold and the discoloration of the skin. Her conclusion is that some chemical reaction occurs between the fatty acids of the skin and the metal.

It should be emphasized that unless there is real substantiation of Lady Robinson's theory there is no need for the many women who experience this reaction to be concerned about diabetes.

It takes a few days after a coronary heart attack for the electrocardiogram to show the exact site of the injury to the muscle wall of the heart.

Research at the University of Texas Health Science Center in Dallas now can pinpoint within 12 hours the exact area of the heart that is damaged.

Dr. Frederick J. Bonte and his co-workers have developed a radioactive scanning technique of the heart which may prove to be invaluable in the early evaluation of coronary heart disease.

Nixon And Kissinger Push Middle East Diplomacy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Intense U.S. diplomatic activity is continuing with President Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger focusing on nuclear arms talks and the Middle East.

First on today's schedule was a breakfast meeting at the State Department between Kissinger and Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy.

Following on the list was Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko at the White House for nuclear arms talks with Nixon and Kissinger and a subsequent lunch with the secretary and his aides.

Setting a date for a Nixon visit to Moscow in late June also was placed on the agenda, according to U.S. officials.

Later in the day Kissinger was expected to receive a Syrian delegation concerning the separation of Israeli and Syrian troops in the Golan Heights area.

But discussion of a previously submitted Israeli plan on separation is not expected until Saturday.

Fahmy came to Washington strictly for Middle East talks, probably focusing this time on the ramifications of the Israeli political crisis.

Gromyko's visit also involved the Middle East and the increasingly public role the Russians want to play in an Arab-Israeli settlement.

But equal to if not surpassing the Middle East was the question of strategic arms control and whether a so-called SALT treaty can be signed this year limiting offensive nuclear weapons.

U.S. officials also put on the expected agenda the issue of relaxation of restrictions on emigration by Soviet Jews as demanded by members of Congress as the price for easier policies for Russian-American trade.

On Thursday, Nixon and Kissinger held lengthy meetings with Algerian President Houari Boumedienne on a wide range of subjects, including the Middle East and a resumption of diplomatic relations.

After the meetings Boumedienne said, "All I can say is that these discussions were frank and that they were deep."

The White House also declined to provide details of the meetings.

Senate OKs Campaign Measure, Sends It To House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a sweeping campaign reform bill and sent it to the House, where its chances of survival are in doubt.

Senate passage by 53-32 vote Thursday capped nearly three weeks of debate, with the bill's provisions for government financing of campaigns for federal office the chief issue.

Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., who led the opposition, predicted the fight against the bill in the Senate would strengthen the resolve of opponents in the House.

Except for its public financing provisions, the measure resembles a campaign reform bill the Senate passed overwhelmingly last July.

But the bill the Senate passed then has been stuck ever since in the House Administration Committee.

The House committee is working on a bill of its own, which is expected to turn out to be far different from the Senate measure.

Another hurdle for the Senate bill is the threat of a presidential veto.

President Nixon has said using tax funds to finance federal election campaigns would be a raid on the Treasury.

"The single most important action to reform campaign financing should be broader public disclosure," he said.

Voting for the Senate bill were 37

Democrats and 16 Republicans. Voting against it were 23 Republicans and nine Democrats, all southerners except for Adlai E. Stevenson III of Illinois.

The margin by which the bill was passed was far short of the two-thirds majority that would be required to override a veto.

Judge Won't Extend School Injunction

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Butler County Common Pleas Court Judge Fred B. Cramer Friday refused to extend an injunction against the school board prohibiting them from breaking off negotiations with teachers.

The teachers filed suit seeking to prevent the board from extending the number of classroom periods next year. The teachers demanded the issue be negotiated.

No date has been set for a hearing on the suit. The court was asked to determine the rights of both parties in the dispute.

The owl hunts by night and strikes small mammals and birds without warning. Death is mercifully swift: strong talons and a sharp beak can crack a victim's back or snap its neck in an instant.

Nixon Papers
Now Belong
To Archives

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Services Administration said today the pre-presidential papers President Nixon donated to the National Archives are government property and cannot be reclaimed by the President.

A spokesman for GSA, parent agency of the National Archives, said his agency considered the gift legally binding, even though a tax deduction Nixon took for the gift has been disallowed by the Internal Revenue Service.

The GSA spokesman said, however, that Nixon probably would be free to sell or otherwise dispose of other Nixon papers and memorabilia being stored at the National Archives but not included in the deeds donating some of his papers to the government.

The spokesman said Nixon would be free to reclaim those papers barring any other legal impediment.

Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., said Wednesday that a syndicate of businessmen, including former Louisiana Gov. James A. Noe, had offered to buy the papers for $1 million.

"I hope the committee that thought he (Nixon) had no right to a deduction for the donation of the papers is equally sure that they are his property," Passman said in a House speech in which he disclosed the offer.

Circleville Chapter OES Discusses Grand Chapter

Members of Circleville Chapter 90 Order of the Eastern Star discussed Grand Chapter Session to be held in October during the Tuesday evening meeting at the Masonic Temple.

Thelma Noecker, worthy matron, extended a cordial welcome to all members. Greeted were: Marie Bennett, Faye Mahaffey, Garnet Reichelderfer, Leona Reigel, Mary Elizabeth Radcliffe, Beverly Currence, Elaine Bowman, Pauline Cook, Chestora Peters and Pauline Hundley, past matrons, and Walden Reichelderfer, Kenneth Reigel and Clarence Radcliffe, past patrons.

In observance of Holy Week, Joseph Peters, worthy patron, read "This Was The Man Jesus" and "One Solitary Life."

During the business meeting the secretary announced she has advance pre-registration blanks for the Grand Chapter Session. Programs may be ordered. Garnet Reichelderfer, past matron, has been appointed by Thelma Noecker to serve as page at the session.

It was voted to send a love offering to Marguerite Kennerdell, most worthy grand matron, for her projects in the General Grand Chapter.

Mary Radcliffe, past matron, presided at a short service at which time Clarence Radcliffe was installed associate patron of the chapter.

Invitations were read to inspections at Heber Chapter on April 18, Royal Chapter on April 22, Lockbourne Chapter on April 29 and Waverly Chapter on May 6.

A letter of resignation was read from Sharon Beadle and the worthy matron announced that at the next meeting on April 23, an election will be held to fill the office of associate matron.

Past Matrons Circle will meet 1 p.m., April 17, at the Ashville Coffee Shop. Hostesses will be Marie Bennett, Faye Mahaffey, Kathryn Reber, Anne Collins and Elizabeth Dunkel.

Lida Ross gave a report of the Franciscan Community Meals project in Circleville and plans were discussed for the Stock Sale Dinner on April 24.

Hostesses for the social hour were Ruth Cline, Donna Foreman and Jean Snyder.

Margaret Ebert Engaged To William Finch

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Ebert, 235 Watt St., Circleville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret, to William D. Finch, son of Mr. George F. Finch Barnesville, and the late Dorothy D. Finch.

MISS MARGARET EBERT

Miss Ebert is a graduate of Circleville High School, attended the Ohio State University and is employed at Motorists Insurance Co.

Mr. Finch received a BA at Muskingum College in 1973 and is currently with Motorists Insurance Co. The wedding will take place in August.

White House Tapes Reply Rewritten

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Republican senator says the White House rewrote its letter responding to a House committee's request for tapes after a warning from Senate GOP leaders.

Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., said Friday that the leaders warned that the first version "would lead to trouble."

The letter was prepared in response to a request for tapes from the House Judiciary Committee and was read to the Senate Republicans Tuesday by presidential assistant Dean Burch, Cotton told reporters.

"It would be asking for impeachment," was the response of one of those present, Cotton said.

A second letter was drafted and read to the GOP leaders, Cotton said, and then sent to the House committee by presidential counsel James D. St. Clair.

However, that failed to satisfy the House group, which is probing the possibility of impeachment of President Nixon, and Thursday it issued a subpoena for the tapes by a 33-3 vote.

Cotton said the senators who met Tuesday with Burch felt the first letter "didn't indicate clearly enough that it was the President's intention to furnish the committee with all relevant materials."

"We felt that wouldn't suffice. We felt it would be taken as a brush-off by the House committee and would lead to trouble," explained Cotton, chairman of the Senate Republican conference.

Cotton said that Nixon hadn't seen the letter because he was en route home from France at the time.

Line Rates To Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many customers who lease telephone lines for private use, including news services and the federal government, apparently are in for big increases in their telephone bills starting Sunday.

"As far as I know it's going in," a spokesman for American Telephone and Telegraph Co. said Thursday night of a proposed change in its leased-line rate structure.

Officials of the Federal Communications Commission, which in January granted a 90-day suspension of the proposed new rates, expiring Sunday, could not be reached.

But with only one business day remaining before the deadline, the commission is down to four members because of three vacancies. This would require a unanimous vote for any action.

The AT&T spokesman said he had heard of no action being proposed. The company could suspend the rates itself until protests against them have been settled, but the spokesman said this was not contemplated as far as he knew.

No SALT Pact, Kissinger Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said today there "would not be a permanent agreement this year" on nuclear strategic arms limitations with the Soviet Union.

In a brief session with reporters, the secretary said it was uncertain whether the United States and the Soviet Union could achieve a partial agreement in strategic arms limitation talks.

This was the strongest public

Budget Approval

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — University of Toledo trustees have approved a 1974-75 fiscal year budget of $31.7 million, an increase of 4.4 per cent over the current year.

Convention Spending In Atlantic City

ATLANTIC CITY (AP) — An estimated $90 million is expected to be spent by convention visitors here in 1974, according to the local Convention Bureau.

This is an increase of about $15 million over 1973.

The higher figure is based on an anticipated increase of some 50,000 convention visitors over 1973, pushing the total attendance figure close to or, perhaps, past the record level of 1970.

In 1974 the city will have approximately 400 conventions of all sizes.

ALMOND MARBLE PIE
Chocolate curls may be used as an additional garnish.

3/4-ounce package vanilla pudding and pie filling

Milk

1 tablespoon white rum

8-ounce container heavy cream

Two 1-ounce squares semi-sweet chocolate

1/2 cup almond paste

Baked 8-inch pie shell

Gradually stir 1 and 1-3rd cups milk and the rum into the pudding mix; cook as package directs. Cover surface, without pressing down, with plastic wrap and cool completely.

Whip cream until stiff; fold 1 1/2 cups of the whipped cream into the pudding; refrigerate. Meanwhile melt chocolate over hot water; gradually beat melted chocolate and 1-3rd cup milk into almond paste until smooth. Cool completely. Spoon half of pudding mixture into pie shell; spoon half of chocolate mixture on top; gently run a knife tip through both mixtures to marble. Repeat with remaining pudding and chocolate mixtures. Chill. Garnish with remaining whipped cream. Makes 6 servings.

Campus Notes

Deborah Ann Luff has recently graduated from Ohio State School of Cosmetology in Columbus. She successfully completed the 1500 hour course which includes the internationally recognized "contour" basic training program as well as extensive advanced training in all facets of hair design, wig styling, hair coloring and salon management.

DEBORAH ANN LUFF

Upon successful completion of the examination given by the Ohio State Board of Cosmetology, Miss Luff will receive a professional cosmetologist license. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Penix of Ashville.

Dennis Victor Shaw, 568 N. Pickaway St., was honored this past quarter by attaining a 3.5 grade point average at Ohio State University. Shaw was also recently notified by the university that he had been accepted into the college of Dentistry for the summer quarter.

Ohio University has announced the names of students who were named to the 1974 winter quarter Dean's List including ten area residents. Attaining a 3.3 or better grade point average on a 4.0 scale were: William Allen Cook, senior, 61 East St., Ashville; Barbara Sue Edwards, senior, Route 2, Ashville; Edward Louis McCord, senior, 274 Plum St., Ashville; Kathryn Ann Farynowski, sophomore, 702 N. Pickaway St.; Beverly Ann May, senior, 481 E. Franklin St.; William Bruce McIlvaine, junior, Route 5, Bell Station Road; David Harlan Stevens, senior, Laurelville; Deborah Lee Richards, junior, Orient; Sally Ann Davis, senior, Route 2, Williamsport; Thomas Patrick Taylor, senior, Kingston.

Named to the Dean's Merit Roll at Miami University was James Patrick Gazdik. This honor recognizes achievement of a scholastic average of between 3.0 and 3.49 on at least 12 hours of credit. Gazdik is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gazdik, 583 E. Franklin St.

JUDITH LEE WILDER

Judith Lee Wilder recently completed the 1500 hour course at Ohio State School of Cosmetology, Columbus. She is now eligible to take the examination given by the Ohio State Board of Cosmetology and upon successful completion of the examination, she will be licensed as a professional cosmetologist. Miss Wilder is the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Wilder, Circleville.

Named to the winter quarter honor's list at Bowling Green State University was June Ellen Brudzinski. Students named to the list must attain a 3.5 or better grade point average on a 4.0 scale. Miss Brudzinski is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve L. Brudzinski, 220 Walnut Creek Pike. She is a freshman at BGSU and earned a 3.73 average during the winter quarter.

Twenty-two Pickaway County residents were named to the honor roll at Ohio State University for the winter quarter. Those honored received an average of at least 3.5 on a 4.0 scale and were enrolled for at least 12 credit hours.

Attaining an "A" average during the quarter were the following seven students: Mark Douglas Lutz, 575 Northridge Road; John Edward Myers, Route 5; Dolores Jean Bihl, Route 3; Edward Earl Conrad, New Holland; Betty Rodgers Kulich, Orient; Celia Gay Wright, Orient; Dona Sue Straley, Williamsport.

The following 15 students were honor roll names: William Samuel Wilson, Ashville; Diana Lynn Pobst, Route 2, Ashville; Benjamin Dudley Radcliff, 630 Ridgewood; Paul Richard Stephens, 520 Lawnwood Court; Robert S. Throckmorton, Route 5; Dennis Victor Shaw, 568 N. Pickaway St.; Michael Teague Henderson, 209 N. Scioto St.; Karen Marie Litten, 350 Walnut Creek Pike; Timothy Laroy Burns, 107 Parkview Ave.; Mark Allen Garner, 127 Logan St.; Teresa Ann Landon, Orient; Cynthia Jean Sheets, Orient; Brenda Cook Uhl, Route 2, Orient; Debra Ann Krahn, Route 2, Williamsport; Dennis Michael Melson, 134 Villa Drive.

Easter Eggs Natural For Hens

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. William Warnke's first attempt at raising chickens was a cackling success. The Boone County farm wife had a complete sellout of her eggs for Easter.

Her hens lay blue, green, pink and gold eggs.

"A lot of people don't believe it even after they've seen them," she laughed. But there is no trick to it.

Her chickens are Araucana chickens, developed in Chile about 1880 by the Araucana Indians. The multi-colored breed was introduced into the United States about 1928.

All her three children have taken the eggs to school for show and tell at one time or the other. Each hen lays only one color, however.

"This was my first attempt at raising chickens," she said. "I wanted something different and when I heard about Araucanas and their colored eggs, I knew that's for us."

How do they taste?

"Like eggs," she laughed.

Ohio GI's Remains Discovered

SIERRA VISTA, Ariz. (AP)— Sheriff's Sgt. Frank Peterson said Friday a decomposed body found in an old mine six miles northeast of here has been tentatively identified as that of an Ohio soldier missing nearly six months.

Dental charts and an engraved cigarette lighter found on the body were used to tentatively identify it as that of Pfc. David R. Kyler of Jeromesville, Ohio.

Peterson said authorities will wait until identification is positively established and until a cause of death is established before investigating the case as a homicide.

Dr. Joseph J. Halka, a Tucson pathologist, said it might take a week or more to determine the cause of death. He said there was no positive evidence yet of violence.

Peterson said the investigation is continuing. "But there is nothing positive. We are searching the area for evidence."

Kyler disappeared last Oct. 31 after arguing with his estranged wife, Karen, and a friend of hers at a nightclub here. He was stationed with the Army at nearby Ft. Huachuca and was declared a deserter last month.

Beef Import Curbs May Revive

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new push for curbing imports of foreign beef soon may be undertaken by farm belt members of Congress miffed over an announcement by Canada earlier this week to ban U.S. cattle and beef.

Sources in the Agriculture Department said Friday they "would not be surprised" if momentum gathers in Congress for such restraints. The Nixon administration opened the door wide to foreign beef in June 1972 in an effort to help American consumers faced with high meat prices.

But cattle prices have dropped precipitously since record peaks last summer and are severely depressed in relation to feed costs.

Canada announced last Monday it would bar imports of livestock and meat products unless the government in the country of origin certified they never contained DES, the growth hormone used for years by cattle feeders.

Some pressure already has been put on President Nixon to curb imports of beef, mostly low-grade meat used for hamburger and other manufactured products.

Rep. Bob Price, R-Tex., wrote Nixon on April 8 asking for "an immediate 180-day embargo" on such imports and a return to regular quotas in effect before the recent rounds of suspensions began nearly two years ago.

"Your advisers may suggest that action such as I am requesting might spawn economic reprisals from foreign nations which ship beef into the United States," Price said in his letter to Nixon.

"I do not think this would be so. In the first place, most foreign exporters of beef would like to be able to divert to other more lucrative markets, such as Japan, at least some of the beef they are shipping to the United States," Price said.

Although Price asked Nixon for the import embargo before the Canadian action was known generally, the DES crackdown is expected to stir support for Price's proposal.

Department officials said there was no way the government could provide Canada with the required certification.

One USDA source said Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, now touring the Far East, does not want a curb on beef imports now because it would "set a bad example" for other countries now being urged by the United States to free-up their trade policies.

Also, the source said, there is apprehension among Butz's advisers — and among some farmbelt members of Congress — that a curb on hamburger meat from Australia, New Zealand and a dozen other sources would stir up urban consumer sentiment at a time when the public is being urged to eat more beef and thereby help cattle producers.

Attorney General Aide Talks Himself Out Of Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe's political friend, J.D. Sawyer, has talked himself out of a top Justice Department job and the fancy new office suite Saxbe provided him.

Saxbe has decided to abolish the $38,000-a-year job of associate attorney general less than three months after he appointed Sawyer to it.

Sawyer said he recommended the move because he concluded "there is really no role for the associate attorney general ... if the department is to function effectively and along traditional lines."

By recommending an end to his own job, he became a rarity in the Washington bureaucracy.

Body Of Cincy Man Found By Boy Scouts

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— The body of a Cincinnati man, a patient at the Detoxification Center, was found by Explorer Scouts Friday in five feet of water at the McFarland Woods park in western Cincinnati.

Police said the victim had been undergoing treatment for drinking problems at the nearby center. An autopsy was scheduled to determine cause of death. Police said foul play was not indicated.

The body was found in a drainage ditch.

John Glenn Urges Food Stockpiling

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Democratic senatorial candidate John Glenn said Friday the nation's first objective should be to "establish stockpiles of food so that there will never again be shortages such as we have experienced."

"After our own supplies are assured, we should use our surplus production to seek world markets and provide famine relief," the former astronaut added.

Glenn made the statement after taping a series of television and radio public service spots for the Christian Rural Overseas Program (CROP).

The announcements will be used outside Ohio to support CROP's program of providing food, seeds, agriculture tools and clothing to the hungry and destitute in 30 countries through the World Church Service.

Glenn said he regarded the CROP appeal as especially important because of his concern for the Ohio farmer and his problems and the vital role of food producers to the economy.

Earlier Friday, Glenn criticized Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, his opponent in the May 7 Democratic primary, for being absent when the Senate voted on an amendment requiring federal office holders to file income tax returns for audit.

Glenn said it was a "sad commentary" that Metzenbaum, "who refuses to reveal his income tax returns" missed the vote Thursday on an amendment to a campaign finance reform bill.

The Senate approved the amendment 68-19 and later that day passed the campaign reform bill, 53-32.

A Metzenbaum aide said Friday the senator's presence was not required to pass the bill, which he favored, since the vote was heavily for passage.

Glenn has repeatedly criticized Metzenbaum for failing to release copies of income tax returns. Glenn recently made public copies of his returns dating back to 1965.

Perk Steps Up Activities In Race For U.S. Senate

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland Mayor Ralph Perk said his two recent bouts with pneumonia will not affect his Republican primary campaign for the U.S. Senate.

Perk, who has kept activities confined to the Cleveland area following his hospitalization, brought his campaign to Cincinnati Friday.

"I've never been in better health," said Perk, adding that the second hospitalization was "my own fault, I didn't take my doctor's orders."

Perk is opposed in the primary by Canton businessman Peter E. Voss. Perk, confident of victory, said he doesn't care which Democratic opponent he faces in November.

"Both have the same problem. Both have tax problems," said Perk of U.S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum and former astronaut John Glenn.

Glenn paid $3,674 in 1972 for unpaid taxes on dividends in 1969 and 1970. He termed the incident an "accident" because he said his Texas-based accounting firm was unfamiliar with Ohio's intangible tax laws.

Metzenbaum has placed $118,000 on deposit while fighting an Internal Revenue Service decision concerning back income taxes.

"They all say it's their accountant's fault," said Perk. "Everybody blames it on their accountant."

Perk said he will release his income tax returns this weekend to the public.

"I don't have an accountant," he said.

"We need a strong voice in the U.S. Senate from someone with the experience of a mayor in urban problems," Perk said. "And, I believe, I could be that strong voice. Very few people in Washington understand urban problems."

As mayor of Cleveland, Perk said, "I have solved some sticky problems."

Ohio Guardsmen Slated For Grayling

GRAYLING, Mich. (AP)—Possible fuel shortages have prompted the Ohio National Guard to decide to train an additional 2,700 troops at Camp Grayling this summer.

Officials said the troops, from the 107th Ohio Guard cavalry, originally were scheduled to train in Texas. Their addition will bring to 13,000 the number of guardsmen slated to train at the camp this summer.

Disaster Aid Bill Delayed By Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation that would provide increased federal aid to victims of last week's tornadoes in the South and Midwest has been put off until after the 10-day Easter recess of Congress.

Meanwhile, President Nixon added West Virginia and Illinois to the list of states eligible for existing aid programs, increasing the total to eight states.

The chance of final congressional action before the recess vanished Thursday when the House unanimously passed a substitute to the Senate's disaster relief measure. This puts the issue into a House-Senate conference committee, which will meet after Congress reconvenes April 22.

A few hours earlier, the President declared Illinois a disaster area because of damage from the April 3 tornadoes and put West Virginia on the list because of "severe storms and flooding" beginning about that date.

Other states eligible for disaster aid are Ohio, Kentucky, Georgia, Indiana, Alabama and Tennessee.

The cost of the congressional program, which would apply to disasters generally as well as to the states hit by the recent tornadoes, is estimated at $75 million a year.

The House bill would include mudslides, not listed by the Senate, among the disasters that would make victims eligible for federal aid.

In another addition to the Senate bill, the House voted to allow the President to lend states the 25 per cent they would have to contribute to a program allowing up to $5,000 of additional aid to victims who had exhausted all other forms of relief.

Both bills provide federal grants for making dwellings immediately habitable, loans to local governments for up to 25 per cent of their annual operating budgets to cover tax losses due to storms, rent and mortgage payments for storm victims and federal funds to meet 100 per cent of reconstruction costs of public buildings.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Don't Hurt Hostess

DEAR ABBY: Here are the facts: A lady was invited to a dinner party. While being greeted by her hostess, she saw a guest whom she had good reason to dislike intensely. She turned around and left immediately.

We (her friends) are divided in our opinions. Some of us think she should have stayed and ignored the guest she disliked. Others say she was justified in leaving.

What would you have done if you had

DEAR DIVIDED: Offhand, out of consideration for my hostess I'd probably have stayed and avoided the guest I disliked. But what I would have done cannot be used as a fair criterion. For that I would have to have walked for at least two miles in that lady's moccasins.

DEAR ABBY: Please help settle a dispute between my husband and me. We've been married a year, and until last week everything was fine. Last Saturday night we were invited to a party at some friend's house. I bought myself a new dress for the occasion. It had a plunging neckline, and as I am sort of bosomy, it was a little revealing.

I thought it looked good. However, when I put it on, my husband refused to take me to the party unless I changed to something more conservative. Well, I refused, so we ended up staying home.

I think my husband is wrong in dictating what I should wear. I am young and pretty and enjoy admiring looks from other men. Is this so wrong, Abby? I could understand my husband's objections if I were too fat or old to wear a dress like that.

He said he wanted to protect me from unwanted advances, and secondly, he wanted me all to himself; he doesn't want other men to see that much of me. What do you think of this?

MAD AT MY HUSBAND

DEAR MAD: Some husbands do not object if their wives wear revealing clothes, in which case, fine. But since yours does, don't!

"A DELICIOUS DIVISION OF VAN-ORR FOODS"

Padres Top San Francisco

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer
The San Diego Padres finally did something they'd been unable to do all year, the Pittsburgh Pirates still can't do it.
Cincinnati's Merv Rettenmund hit a big one Friday night in Atlanta, a grand slammer.
Not that the Reds exactly needed it. They beat the Braves' brains out, waltzing to a 14-2 victory.
The Padres, the whipping boys of the National League until now, finally put some clutch pitching, hitting and fielding together for nine innings and got their first victory of the season, beating San Francisco 3-2.
The Pirates are still looking for their first victory, though. It took them 11 innings to lose their fifth of the year, a 7-6 thriller to the St. Louis Cardinals.

Al Downing of Los Angeles gave up another homer. The first, of course, was Aaron's momentous 715th. The second was Lee May's three-run bomb that carried Houston to a 5-3 victory over the Dodgers in the night's only other National League game.
Reds 14, Braves 2
While Rettenmund was hitting his 52nd career homer, Aaron was doing what he's been doing all year when he hasn't been hitting homers. He went hitless in three at-bats against Clay Kirby, just as he did last Sunday in Cincinnati ... against Clay Kirby.
The Reds slapped five Atlanta pitchers around for 18 hits. The big one wasn't Rettenmund's but Dave Concepcion's, a two-run double in the sixth inning off Ron Reed that put Cincinnati ahead to stay.

Padres 3, Giants 2
Steve Arlin and Vicente Romo scattered six San Francisco hits, calming down a San Diego mound staff that had been shelled for 80 hits and 52 runs in six losing games.
And Dave Roberts, who had given the Giants a run with an error, got it back for the Padres with a game-winning, tiebreaking single in the seventh.
Cards 7, Pirates 6
Roberts' three-run homer put Pittsburgh in front 4-2 in the third inning—but two-run doubles by Ted Sizemore and Ted Simmons in the seventh vaulted the Cardinals in front by two.

Doubles by Ed Kirkpatrick and Richie Hebner for a run in the eighth and Richie Zisk's homer in the ninth tied it for the Reds—but it was only a temporary reprieve.
In the 11th, Tim McCarver, Lou Brock and Reggie Smith singled and St. Louis had the winning run.
Astros 5, Dodgers 3
May's shot off sixth inning wiped out the 2-1 lead the Dodgers had eked out against winner Claude Osteen, who went to the Astros in the deal that sent Jimmy Wynn to Los Angeles. Osteen was shaky and needed relief help. Wynn went hitless.

Dave Stockton Leading Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — He's a scrambler, a spoiler and a scrapper and he's the thunderclap that snapped the 38th Masters Golf Tournament out of its 48 hours of lethargy.
"I don't remind anybody of Ben Hogan," says Dave Stockton, "but I get the job done. Nobody wants to play Jack Nicklaus head-to-head but I like the idea of trying to beat him here, where he owns the air."
Stockton, 32, from Westlake, Calif., with the dark good looks of a Hollywood matinee idol, fired a six-under-par 66 to take the lead into today's third round over the 7,020-yard, submissive Augusta National course.
He provided the shock needed to wake everybody up.
"I am confident," he insisted. "Sometimes I pump myself up and tell everybody I'm playing super. It's just a show because I'm scared. Now I really feel it. I don't feel scared of anybody."
Stockton's 71-66—137, seven under par, gave him a single stroke advantage over Hubert Green and Hale Irwin, each with 68-70, and two shots over the veteran Frank Beard, 69-70, and Jim Colbert, the first round leader, 67-72.
The six-foot Californian didn't have to look much farther back to see the menacing shadows of some of the game's most potent practitioners: the 3-1 favorite Nicklaus, British Open king Tom Weiskopf, Gene Littler, Jerry Heard and Dan Sikes, were all bracketed at 140.

Before Stockton scrambled in near the end of the day Friday with his spectacular round — bouncing the ball off trees, slamming out of constant trouble and fending off disaster with a blast-hot putter — everyone was decrying the fact that no player was making a move.
"So many of us are playing head-to-head, nobody is springing out in front," Irwin said. "There's nobody out there to chase."
Nicklaus, shooting for his fifth Masters crown quickly agreed.
"If somebody shot real well," Jack said, "the others would follow. The course is sitting out there, ready to be taken."
Most of the players and the other observers felt that Big Jack was the man to do it in the closing rounds today and Sunday. Although he has played two rather mediocre rounds — for Nicklaus — the blond bombardier was only three shots off the pace after a 71.

Indians Romp Over Yankees

By BERT ROSENTHAL
AP Sports Writer
What appeared to be a "juicy" rerun of a rhabarbled game played earlier this season ... controversial Gaylord Perry of Cleveland and his alleged spitter pitching against the New York Yankees with umpire Marty Springstead working behind the plate ... turned out to be just a relatively "dry" run.
Not once did Springstead formally charge the Indians' balding right-hander with wetting his pitches Friday night — as he had done on opening day when the Yankees beat Perry 6-1 in New York.
Springstead questioned only one pitch, in the eighth inning of the Indians' 9-1 romp — their first victory in six games this season. And by that time, it didn't matter. And the home plate umpire didn't even bother warning Perry, only cautioning catcher Dave Duncan that the pitch looked suspicious.

Meanwhile, in other American League games Friday, the Baltimore Orioles downed the Milwaukee Brewers 5-3, the California Angels massacred the Chicago White Sox 15-1, the Boston Red Sox beat the Detroit Tigers 6-3, and the Kansas City at Minnesota game was postponed because of wet grounds.
The Yankees, however, were not convinced of Perry's innocence, charging that he still was delivering illegal pitches.
The Indians clipped loser Pat Dobson for two runs in the second inning, then wrapped it up with a six-run barrage in the fourth, highlighted by Frank Duffy's three-run homer and John Ellis' two-run single. Buddy Bell's solo homer in the eighth completed the scoring.
Meanwhile, Perry — wetting the ball

or not — was mowing down the Yanks. He didn't allow a hit after Bill Sudakis' one-out single in the fourth, and retired the last 14 batters after Roy White led off the fifth with a walk and was erased on a double play.
Orioles 5, Brewers 3
Baltimore took a 2-0 lead in the third inning on run-scoring singles by Al Bumbry and Bobby Grich, then went ahead 5-0 in the fourth on a pair of run-producing wild pitches by Jim Slaton, plus Mark Belanger's sacrifice fly.
Milwaukee battled back with three runs in the fifth and knocked out winner Dave McNally in the eighth. But relievers Bob Reynolds and Grant Jackson preserved the victory.
Angels 15, White Sox 1
Frank Robinson, who homered, Mickey Rivers and Dave Chalk each knocked in three runs as California rattled Chicago pitchers for 16 hits in handing the winless White Sox their fifth loss.
Fireballing Nolan Ryan limited the White Sox to five hits in eight innings.
Red Sox 6, Tigers 3
Bernie Carbo's first grand slam homer of his major league career, in the first inning against Lerrin LaGrow, gave Boston a lead it never relinquished. The Red Sox went ahead 6-0 in the third, chasing LaGrow on Carl Yastrzemski's two-run double.
The Tigers nicked winner Bill Lee for an unearned run in the seventh, then got two in the eighth on Al Kaline's homer.

Cincinnati Reds Bomb Atlanta, 14-2

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — "I can do something Hank Aaron can't do," said Cincinnati's Merv Rettenmund. "I can remember every home run I ever hit."
Rettenmund certainly ought to remember the one he hit Friday night. It was a grand slam blast that boosted the Reds to a 9-2 lead over the Atlanta Braves. The Reds went on to win the National League baseball game 14-2.
"I wasn't swinging well tonight, so I really don't know how I got that one," Rettenmund said.
Rettenmund's grand slam and Dave Concepcion's four hits in five trips to the plate, led Cincinnati's 18-hit assault that buried the Braves.
Clay Kirby, who had held Aaron hitless last Sunday, did it again, striking him out once and getting him on two routine fly balls to left.

Kirby, 1-1, permitted the Braves single runs in the fifth inning on Johnny Oates' sacrifice fly and in the sixth on a wild pitch.
Johnny Bench hit a home run in the fourth for the Reds' first run. Then they jumped on Ron Reed, 1-1, for three in the sixth on two walks, a double by Concepcion and Ken Griffey's single. Hits by Pete Rose and Joe Morgan and Dan Driessen's forceout grounder accounted for one run in the seventh. Then Tony Perz hit a groundrule double, Bench walked intentionally, loaded the bases, and Rettenmund hit his homer to left.
The Reds added another seventh-inning run and got four more in the ninth.

Braves Lose To Celtics-- Or Did They?

By JOHN NELSON

Time just ran out on Buffalo Coach Jack Ramsay's 4-year-old child. Or did it?
Ramsay, acting the part of a disappointed parent, fussed and fumed, then filed an official protest Friday after the Braves were apparently eliminated from the National Basketball Association playoffs by Boston 106-104.
The Celtics, who are scheduled to move on to the Eastern Conference finals against New York Sunday, won the game when Jo Jo White connected on two free throws, standing by himself on the court and no time left on the clock.
"You don't end a playoff series on a foul like that," Ramsay said after the game and before he'd seen the video tapes. Then, after Ramsay checked the tapes, a Braves' spokesman said a telegram was sent to NBA headquarters protesting the game.
"There was a gap of about two seconds after the alleged foul when time was allowed to run out," Ramsay said. "I believe the game should be re-started with two seconds remaining."
New York clinched its berth in the Eastern Conference finals by beating the Capital Bullets 91-88 in a series that had gone down to its seventh game.
Indiana also clinched a West Division final berth in the American Basketball Association Friday by beating the San Antonio Spurs 86-79. Indiana will travel to Utah today to begin the division finals.
In other games today, the Kentucky Colonels and New York Nets open their ABA East Division finals in New York, and Detroit and Chicago decide the winner of their NBA Western Conference semifinal series at Chicago.

Goalie Hits Referee

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Atlanta Flames are going down, but never let it be said they didn't go down swinging — at referees as well as opponents.
"I admit I hit the referee," said Atlanta goalie Dan Bouchard after his team's 4-1 National Hockey League playoff loss to Philadelphia Friday night.
"If he had been a good, competent ref, I should have been thrown out of the game."
Referee Pete Newell did not banish Bouchard after the second-period incident, which may have been even crueler punishment. The Flames now trail 3-0 in the best-of-seven series and face elimination Sunday night at home.
The other three NHL playoff series resume tonight. The Montreal Canadiens visit the New York Rangers after splitting two games in Montreal, the Boston Bruins take a 2-0 lead into Atlanta against the Flames, and the Chicago Black Hawks, leading 2-0, visit the Los Angeles Kings.

There were three World Hockey Association playoff games Friday night. The Toronto Toros downed the Cleveland Crusaders 4-2 to take a 3-0 lead in that series, the Chicago Cougars beat the defending champion New England Whalers 4-2 to take a 3-2 lead and the Edmonton Oilers won their first game in four tries — 2-1 decision over the Minnesota Fighting Saints.
The fourth WHA series continues tonight with the Winnipeg Jets, down two games to none, visiting the Houston Aeros.

Penny Content Saved Money In '43

WASHINGTON (AP) — The content of the penny was last changed in World War II. An issue of zinc-coated cents was struck in 1943 to conserve precious copper and other strategic metals.
The copper saved was enough to meet the combined needs of two cruisers, two destroyers, 1,243 flying Fortresses, 120 field guns and 120 howitzers, Treasury officials reported.

Gary Nolan Consults Hometown Physician

CINCINNATI (AP) — Gary Nolan, complaining of continued arm pain, has returned to his home in Orville, Calif. to consult a physician there, according to Cincinnati Reds President Bob Howsam.
Nolan, complaining of arm pain, won 15 games in 1972 and only pitched 10 innings last season. Nolan underwent surgery over the winter.

Celina Race Driver Convicted In 'Fix'

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A Celina, Ohio harness driver was convicted of fixing a race at Latonia Race Course Nov. 31, 1973 and a Flushing, Ohio trainer is scheduled for trial later this month.
Stephen Andre Martz, 21, was fined $750 in Boone County Circuit Court after pleading guilty to a lesser charge of fixing a horse race. He was originally charged with accepting a bribe.
Trainer Carter Alexander Howell, 37, accused of paying a bribe to fix a harness race Nov. 9, 1973, will be tried later this month, court officials said.

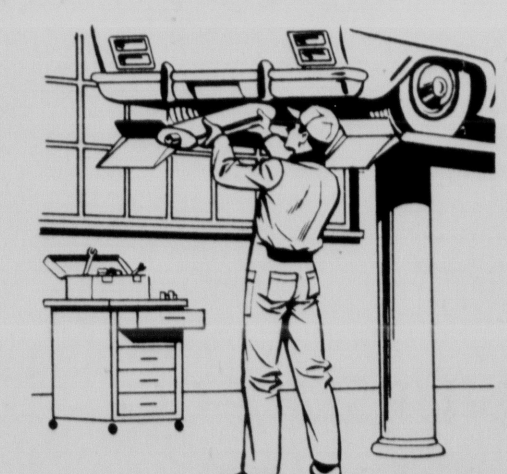

Bill Kennon Quits As Massillon Coach

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP) — "It's time to move on," Bill Kennon said Friday in announcing his resignation as basketball coach at Massillon Washington High School. He gave no other reason for his action.
Coach of the Tigers since 1970, Kennon reportedly was looking for a new job and had several offers. He had a 53-34 record here, including a district championship in 1972.

Views On Television

Those who care more for the silver screen than baseball will be happy to know the A.C. Nielsen ratings say last week's Academy Awards show on NBC was a far bigger TV draw than history at bat.

The Oscar ceremonies were seen in an estimated 24.3 million homes, compared to the 17.3 million homes the ratings people estimate were tuned to NBC between 9 and 9:30 p.m. EST, when Aaron broke Ruth's record.

CBS' fine news special for kids has a particularly timely study coming Saturday at 1 p.m. EST. It's called "What's Impeachment All About" and it's a good effort, considering its intended audience.

It aims at defining both the process of impeachment and the complicated issues in the possible impeachment of President Nixon.

Some parents may object to one very brief excerpt in which an auto worker says, "Our President is a damn crook and we all know it." But that's immediately followed by the President's own rebuttal.

It's strong material, but worth viewing, even by grownups who feel they've already been told more about impeachment than they care to know.

Rhodes Returns Realtor's License

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Former Gov. James A. Rhodes gave up the fight to keep his real estate broker's license Friday, saying he could not expect "fairness or justice from a politically motivated Real Estate Commission."

Rhodes, who is seeking the Republican gubernatorial nomination in a move for an unprecedented return to the chief executive's office, sent the disputed license to the commission with a request it be canceled immediately.

The former governor said the public interest would not be served by a "prolonged fight over such an unimportant issue."

He said he has never used the license since obtaining it more than three years ago and did not need it in his business.

The Real Estate Commission had begun administrative procedures to revoke Rhodes' license, contending it had been obtained improperly.

Rhodes has contended the administration of Democratic Gov. John Gilligan, his likely opponent next November, has used the license issue

Tradesmen Can't Veto UAW Pacts

DETROIT (AP) — A United Auto Workers review board has ruled the union's skilled tradesmen do not have the power to veto a national contract but do have the right to vote separately on agreements.

The UAW's Public Review Board made the 5-2 decision in a dispute involving skilled tradesmen and the union over a national contract negotiated last fall with Ford Motor Co.

The 28,000 Ford tradesmen contended they vetoed the Ford-UAW pact when they voted nearly 3-1 against it. But the contract was approved by 157,000 production workers by an even wider margin and the union's International Executive Board declared the pact ratified.

Despite that ruling, however, the executive board went back to Ford and renegotiated a section of the contract concerning voluntary overtime to which the skilled tradesmen objected.

The review board held the executive board acted properly and ruled in favor of the UAW-Ford pact. Its findings are final.

The review board is made up of seven prominent public members who serve independently of the union. It was set up in 1957 during the administration of the late Walter P. Reuther to hear appeals from executive board decisions.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Spring continues over Ohio with overnight readings in the 50s and 60s and highs today forecast to reach the 60s and 70s. To complete the picture, a few scattered showers fell during the night and more were expected today.

A spring storm centered in the upper Great Lakes continued to pull warm, moist air off the Gulf of Mexico across Ohio. Brisk southerly winds were to be accompanied by occasional showers and scattered thundershowers through Sunday.

Temperatures were to remain mild Easter Sunday with readings in the 60s north to around 70 south. Lows tonight were to be generally in the 40s to the low 50s.

for a political attack on him.

He called state Commerce Director Dennis Shaul a "political henchman" and said the commission has "harassed me continuously since I announced as a candidate for governor some 16 months ago." Shaul could not be reached for comment.

Rhodes said he returned the license because he did not want "planned personal attacks" to divert public attention from the more important issues of the campaign.

Rhodes obtained the license four days before leaving office in 1971. He claims he took the examination for the license orally in the governor's office.

The Real Estate Commission contends there are no records to show he took any examination.

The commission also has challenged the licenses of nine other persons, including two of Rhodes' former cabinet members, Fred Neuenschwander, development director, and Gordon Peltier, commerce director.

Neuenschwander's license was questioned because he lacked the required two years experience as a real estate salesman. That also was another basis for the challenge of Rhodes' license.

Peltier's license was questioned because, as commerce director overseeing real estate regulation, he helped prepare the examination he took.

City Settles False Arrest Lawsuit

KENT, Ohio (AP)—Kent city officials say City Council has agreed to a $5,000 settlement in a false arrest suit accusing city and Kent State University police of harassment during an anti-war demonstration in May 1970.

out-of-court settlement was taken Wednesday, based on a recommendation from the city's attorney, Charles Clarke.

The suit had asked $75,000. There was no indication whether the university also would agree to the settlement.

Court records show that the suit stemmed from the arrest of Craig Morgan, former Kent State University student body president; Alan G. Morris, a student from Cuyahoga Falls, and Kathleen Grifoni, a nonstudent.

The suit, filed in 1972, said the three were falsely arrested because they were denied their right of free assembly.

Charges of unlawful assembly against Morgan and of failure to disperse against Morris were later dropped. The Grifoni woman was found innocent of a charge of failure to disperse.

Kissinger, Syrian Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is meeting with a Syrian official in an effort to find out if a troop separation in the Golan Heights can be worked out.

Today's session with Brig. Gen. Hikmat Chehab, the Syrian military intelligence chief, is expected to provide an assessment of the disengagement proposal brought to the State Department by Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan on March 30.

Even more important, perhaps, are the insights Kissinger could gain about the effects of pressures by the Soviet Union on its Syrian allies.

Kissinger already has found that Moscow will not give him the elbow room that led to an interim settlement in January between Egypt and Israel. In the course of working out that disengagement, Kissinger was able to coax President Anwar Sadat toward friendly relations with Washington and away from rigid reliance on Moscow.

Find Bodies In Crash

HILO, HAWAII (AP) — The bodies of 11 persons killed when a twin-engine plane crashed into a mountainside near here have been recovered.

The plane was reported missing Thursday night. The wreckage was sighted early Friday and the bodies recovered from a rugged slope of the dormant Mauna Loa volcano, about 30 miles from here.

Dense fog late Friday prevented helicopters from returning the bodies. Ten of the dead were mainland visitors, whose names were not released pending positive identification, authorities said.

The other victim was identified as Vincent E. Morine of Honolulu, the 24-year-old pilot of the twin-engine Beechcraft.

Wreckage from the crash was strewn over a quarter-mile area, a Federal Aviation Administration spokesman said.

The crash was the worst air disaster in Hawaii since 27 persons were killed in a crash at Honolulu Airport in 1962.

The Soviets are therefore staking out a prominent role in the current negotiations. They received Syria's president, Hafez Assad, on a visit while Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko presents his country's views Friday to President Nixon and Kissinger.

Some western diplomats believe the Kremlin is trying to force the negotiations back to Geneva where the Soviet Union, as a co-chairman, can have a powerful influence on any settlement.

Gromyko, meanwhile, somberly told newsmen after seeing Kissinger that the Middle East situation is "complicated."

Stolen School Bus Recovered

A school bus stolen from the Mayfield Heights School District in Cuyahoga County was recovered at 5:30 a.m. this morning by the State Highway Patrol. Sgt. Ronald Thompson of the Circleville patrol post said he noticed the school bus going south on Route 23 just north of South Bloomfield.

The officer observed the bus more closely and saw it did not have any marker lights. He said he also thought it was a little early on a Saturday morning for the bus to be out. He then stopped the bus and called in a check on it.

Driving the bus from the Cleveland suburb was a juvenile accompanied by another juvenile. Sgt. Thompson found through the stolen motor vehicle that the bus had been taken from the school between 9 p.m. Friday and 1 a.m. this morning.

The two youths, ages 14 and 15, were apprehended and taken to the juvenile authorities in Columbus where they were charged with auto larceny. Both were from Highland Heights, near the same area as the school bus was stolen. Sgt. Thompson said neither of them had an operator's license.

Easter Bunny Wears Olive Drab For Visit To Xenia

XENIA, Ohio (AP) — The Easter Bunny in Xenia may be wearing olive drab and riding in a jeep.

The Ohio National Guard said Friday its 178 military policemen in Xenia are preparing about 90 dozen eggs for the holiday. Saturday night patrols will be doubled, with four men on patrol instead of two, the guard said.

Two of the guardsmen will be dropping Easter baskets on doorsteps. One guardsman said headquarters

Twisters Hit In Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms washed over the Southeast and the Tennessee Valley today following a day of heavy rains and occasional tornadoes across the Midwest and parts of the South.

Twisters were sighted Friday night near Baton Rouge, La.; Urbana, Ill.; South Bend, Ind., and Mount Pleasant, Mich. They caused some damage to farm property and utility lines, but no serious injuries were reported.

High winds at a trailer park pushed six mobile homes two to five feet off their foundations at Midland, Mich. Utilities reported some power outages in Illinois and Michigan.

Large hail accompanied the high winds and rain in Michigan, Texas and Louisiana.

Persistent rain in the past few days in the Southeast has caused rivers to rise and some families already have evacuated their homes in Mississippi and Louisiana.

Some of the heavier rain measurements Friday were 12.5 inches at Magee, 8.5 at Raleigh, 6.5 at Meridian and 4.4 at Vicksburg, all in Mississippi. Birmingham, Ala., took on more than 2 inches and Tuscaloosa had 4 inches.

Chattanooga and Memphis, Tenn., and Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., had more than an inch of rain.

The central and northern Rockies and high Plains remained locked in winter-like conditions with snow up to 6 inches. Salt Lake City, Utah, had 3 inches of snow Friday night. Two inches fell at Lander, Wyo., for a total of 4 inches since Friday.

Hearst Fears Harmful FBI Action

LA PAZ, Mexico (AP) — Randolph A. Hearst says he is worried that his kidnaped daughter Patricia could get killed during a rescue attempt by the FBI.

"I know I cannot control the FBI, but I certainly hope that even if they know where Patty is they will not go in with guns blazing and get my daughter killed," he said in an interview here Friday.

But Hearst added that he and the FBI have reached agreement that any police action which might endanger Patricia would be avoided.

"Our absence from the United States should not be construed by the FBI as an excuse to do anything which would endanger the life or well being of Patty," said the president and editor of the San Francisco Examiner.

Miss Hearst, 20, was dragged screaming by kidnapers from her Berkeley, Calif., apartment on Feb. 4. Two months later, after her parents had organized a massive food giveaway in response to the kidnapers' demands, Patricia said in a taped message that she had joined the Symbionese Liberation Army which abducted her.

The Hearsts have said they believe the tape recording was made under duress.

FHA Interest Rate Increases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal interest rate ceiling on government-backed mortgage loans will jump from 8 1/4 to 8 1/2 per cent Monday, matching an all-time high.

James T. Lynn, secretary of housing and urban development, announced the quarter per cent rise in the ceiling on Federal Housing Administration and Veteran's Administration loans Friday night, saying the change was necessary because of higher interests rates across the economy.

"I have reluctantly taken this step because it is vital to keep the FHA as an available, practical, mortgage money source for American home buyers," Lynn said.

President Relaxes For Easter

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon is at his bayside home here for a quiet Easter weekend. Aides said they could cite no urgent business needing his attention and expected no official visitors.

During Nixon's afternoon flight to Florida on Friday, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told newsmen aboard Air Force One that his boss would not be devoting much time to his promised response to a House Judiciary Committee subpoena for additional presidential tapes and documents. This question is being handled by aides in Washington, he said.

Asked if Nixon might not consider his strategy in dealing with the subpoena, Ziegler said the President already has decided upon his strategy. He apparently referred to Thursday's White House announcement that Nixon would provide some unspecified additional materials for the House impeachment inquiry during the week of May 21.

The presidential spokesman said he expected Nixon to handle official business during the mornings while here and devote much of the rest of each day to rest and relaxation.

Flying to Florida with Nixon were wife Pat, daughter Tricia and her husband, Edward Cox. Daughter Julie and son-in-law David Eisenhower drove to Phoenixville, Pa., to spend Easter with his parents.

Ziegler said the first family would attend Easter services in the area. The Nixons are expected to return to Washington on Monday or Tuesday.

Easter Observed Around World

By JULIE FLINT
Associated Press Writer

Pope Paul VI set today aside to rest as he prepared to celebrate Easter services Sunday at St. Peter's Basilica and to give his annual "Urbi and Orbi" blessing to Rome and the world.

On Friday the 76-year-old pontiff braved a chilly, windy evening as he made his annual Way of the Cross pilgrimage on Rome's Palatine Hill.

Pope Paul had been advised by doctors to cut back his Holy Week scheduled following two recent bouts with influenza, but he insisted on taking part in the hour-long outdoor ceremony.

However, he passed up traditional Good Friday services in St. Peter's and Vatican officials said he will not attend the Easter vigil mass tonight.

The pope, dressed only in red robes of mourning, watched the procession for the first nine of the 14 Stations of the Cross. Then he took up the six-foot cross of light wood and carried it for 15 minutes.

Applauding and shouting "Viva Il Papa," thousands lined the barricades

for a glimpse of the spiritual leader of the Roman Catholic Church.

Pope Paul looked fit though at times his voice was weak as he urged Catholics in a 10-minute address not to forget "the abject, the deformed, the weeping and the unhappy."

The Western Christian celebration of Easter coincides this year with Eastern rites, and Ecumenical Patriarch Demetrios I, the spiritual leader of 250 million Eastern Orthodox Christians, urged the unity to become permanent.

In an Easter encyclical, the patriarch called for a panChristian agreement setting a single date for the holy day to signify that "our resurrected common Lord ... is one, that His body the church is one, and that Christian Easter is one."

The Patriarch of Constantinople — Istanbul — also called for continued Israeli supervision of the Christian holy places in Jerusalem, keeping them open to persons of all faiths.

In Jerusalem, a heavier than normal Israeli guard was posted out of fear of Arab guerrilla action as thousands of Christian pilgrims took up wooden crosses, re-enacting Christ's walk to his crucifixion.

Wounded U.S. Official Freed By Guerillas

CORDOBA, Argentina (AP) — American official Alfred Albert Laun III, who was seriously wounded and held for 15 hours Friday by Marxist guerrillas, was reported improving today after 2 1/2 hours of emergency surgery.

The U.S. Information Service official was rushed to a hospital after the guerrillas called newspapers and said Laun was lying near the River Primero in midtown Cordoba. Reporters found him with a bullet wound in his stomach and badly beaten about the head.

Hospital sources said the damage done the bullet had been repaired, but the doctors' main worry now was the possibility of infection because of the many hours Laun lay wounded without medical attention.

The sources said Laun was in "serious to fair condition." Laun, 36, a native of Kiel, Wis., was seized at his isolated home in suburban Unquillo by nine guerrillas of the outlawed People's Revolutionary Army. He was wounded by gunfire when he resisted his abductors.

Laun, who is single, has been in the central city of Cordoba for about 20 months as chief of the USIS office here. His kidnapers had said he would be submitted to a "revolutionary tribunal" for alleged "counter-revolutionary activities" in earlier USIS assignments in Santo Domingo, Saigon, Brazil and Bolivia.

The guerrillas apparently kept him alive by administering drugs and then abandoned him with three bottles of blood plasma attached to his body. They left him between two trucks near the river and telephoned local newspapers to tell them where they could find him.

Reporters reached Laun moments before a police ambulance arrived and carried him to the Reina Fabiola hospital of the Catholic University of Cordoba.

U.S. officials in Buenos Aires said a plane was being sent to evacuate Laun if necessary.

Hospital sources said Laun had received a .45-caliber bullet wound in his abdomen, and his eyes were blackened by blows to the head.

The newsmen who found Laun said his first words to them were: "Are you friends?"

They answered him: "Don't worry, nothing is going to happen."

The newsmen said a note was pinned to Laun, explaining what medication had been given him during captivity.

Israelis Invade Lebanese Villages

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israeli army units blew up 20 houses in six villages in southern Lebanon on Friday and captured about 10 suspected terrorists in retaliation for the Arab terrorist massacre at Qiryat Shmonah, the military command announced today.

In Beirut, Lebanese defense minister Nasri Maalouf said a woman and her 10-year-old daughter were killed in the raid. Their bodies were found in the rubble of a demolished house, police said.

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said the raid was a "political action" to warn the Lebanese government. He said the Israeli raiders cleared all Arab residents out of the houses before blowing them up, and if two civilians were killed "it was by accident."

In the stiffest warning he has ever issued to Lebanon, Dayan said: "If the Lebanese government allows terrorist headquarters to enjoy their freedom and conveniences in Beirut and at night they cross the border into Israel, I think that eventually a good part of Lebanon will be destroyed and deserted."

A Lebanese communique said that 13 civilians were seized and 24 houses and a power station were blown up.

Beirut press reports said villagers were told the 13 men would be held hostage in exchange for the return of two Israeli pilots captured after bailing out over Lebanon on Monday while returning from the Syrian front.

The Israeli command said the strike force evacuated and blew up 20 houses allegedly belonging to guerrilla sympathizers, and returned safely before midnight after a three-hour operation.

An Israeli military correspondent who accompanied the raiders said the villagers showed no signs of fear, and "some even cooperated with the Israelis."

He quoted one of the Israeli commanders as saying: "Everything went smoothly, proving it possible to deal blows at the terrorists and their collaborators without harming innocent civilians."

Nixon Must Pay California Taxes

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California officials say they haven't found any evidence of criminal negligence or fraud in President Nixon's failure to file state income tax returns for 1969-72.

The state announced Friday it is requiring Nixon to submit the returns now and pay $4,263.72 in back taxes, a penalty of $39.17 and as much as $1,000 in interest on the taxes due.

The decision came in the wake of a congressional report that claims Nixon owes about $465,000 in back taxes. The White House has said Nixon will pay the federal tax bill.

Meanwhile, the State of New York says it also is looking into Nixon's 1969-70 tax status.

Dean Butler, Nixon's California tax lawyer, said the state bill would be paid, although he disagreed with some of the findings of the California Franchise Tax Board.

Taxes owed were computed by the panel on the basis of a report by the congressional Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation.

At the White House, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren did not say whether Nixon would pay the California taxes or contest the state's findings.

"We will wait until we hear from the State Franchise Tax Board directly," Warren said.

The California decision was announced by Martin Huff, executive officer of the board which administers the state income tax. He said the President would promptly file returns and pay taxes owed for the four-year period.

The $39.17 penalty is for failing to file a return for 1970. Huff said the penalty was levied because it was obvious Nixon had enough California-based income to require a return.

But failure to file a return, in itself, does not constitute criminal negligence or fraud, he told a news conference.

"There has to be some evidence or indication of wilfulness and all the evidence was the other way around," Huff said. Failure to file "is not necessarily a criminal matter if he didn't believe he had a requirement to file, and that isn't the situation."

The New York State Tax Department is studying the possibility Nixon owes back taxes in that state.

Department Director John F. Donovan said one area under investigation is the $142,912 capital gain Nixon made on the sale of his Manhattan apartment in 1969.

Nixon paid no taxes on the sale because the profits were reinvested in the purchase of the President's estate in San Clemente, Calif.

While the California board still considers Nixon a nonresident for tax purposes, he had $237,659 in taxable "California source" income for the four years, Huff said.

Nixon owes $4,107.04 for 1969 and $156.68 for 1970, Huff said. He had more than $55,000 in California income for 1971 and 1972, but that was more than offset by allowable deductions and he owes no tax for those two years.

Weather

Partly cloudy and mild through Sunday with chances of showers or thundershowers mainly in the afternoon and evening. High today, upper 70s. Low, low 50s. High Sunday near 70. Probability of precipitation, 40 per cent today, 30 per cent tonight and 40 per cent tomorrow. Temperatures Friday were: high, 72; low, 57.

Feed Grain Stocks In Short Supply

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture
Stocks of feed grains, including corn, are expected to dip to the lowest level since the early 1950's. This is because feed grain use during the current marketing year will exceed 1973 production, according to Herbert Hadley, Extension Economist at The Ohio State University.
However, the economist points out, the strong demand and high prices that have been experienced will probably trigger a boost in spring plantings of corn and other feed grains. He expects the resulting production to exceed needs for the 1974-75 season.

If farmers have favorable weather and enough fertilizer to plant the 126 million acres indicated in the March planting intention report, feed grain production would be up nearly 10 per cent over 1973. Plans include 78.8 million acres of corn nationally, an increase of 10 per cent. If the projected yield of 97 bushels per acre is achieved, a resulting corn crop of 6.6 billion bushels would exceed 1973 corn production by 9 per cent.

Corn demand is projected for 1974-75 at 6.1 billion bushels. A carryover of 500 to 600 million bushels is forecast for the current market year. This means total supplies of corn could exceed use by about one billion bushels.

Much uncertainty revolves around corn yields with higher priced inputs, however. Nitrogen fertilizer prices range from 70 to 125 per cent above last year, with availability a problem tending to suggest lower yields. Gasoline and diesel fuel prices have increased from 60 to 100 per cent. Land values and rents have skyrocketed. Last year's wet weather delayed planting, a condition which if avoided will tend to encourage extra corn acreage and higher yields. Another important factor is the relationship between corn and soybean prices. With a soybean price two times the corn price, returns are comparable, the economist reveals.

Soybean supplies for the current market year are expected to exceed disappearance, with carryover being near 240 million bushels. For the past three years, use has exceeded current production. March 1, 1974, intentions indicated a 4 per cent decrease in acreage over last year, or 55 million acres. Assuming normal yields, a 1.43 billion bushel crop plus carryover would mean a 1.77 billion bushel supply of soybeans. Projecting use at 1.5 billion bushels for 1974-75 would leave carryover stocks of 170 million bushels, Hadley says.

News For Homemakers

By BEVERLY BECHTEL
County Extension Agent,
Home Economics

People have been giving hard cooked (not boiled!) eggs, all decorated in springy designs, since 722 B. C. in China. The world over, homemakers are joining you in this seasonal lighthearted festivity for many cultural reasons. What do you do with all those eggs after Easter morning? We have a booklet called "Eggs in Family Meals" which includes a lot of information and recipes on these little protein nuggets. It's free if you'll call 474-7534 or write us at 137 W. Franklin Street, Circleville.

How do you like those sewn-in permanent care and laundering instructions in the clothing you buy? The Federal Trade Commission issued a rule in December, 1971, that all textile items of wearing apparel, and all piece goods sold for wear, must have these care labels. Now the F. T. C. wants to hear from you. Are the clothes you buy labeled properly with laundering instructions? Do you get your care label with fabric you buy? (You shouldn't have to ask for it - it's part of your purchase.) Is the information clear? Are the right instructions being used? Are instructions complete? The F. T. C. is concerned about how their rule is being applied and if it truly is helping you, the homemaker and laundry boss. If you have comments, jot them down while you're waiting for the dryer to finish. Send them to: Bureau of Consumer Protection, Federal Trade Commission, Washington, D. C. 20580.

Do you have a garment or piece of fabric which somehow got separated from its fiber content label? How can you tell if it's wool, polyester, or what? Here are some simple home chemistry tests to tell the fiber content. Touch a burning match to a scrap of the fabric and watch it burn. Wool will burn slowly and leave a soft black carbon ash. And you will be able to smell a "hair burning" aroma. If you don't know what burning hair smells like, you've never lighted an old gas oven, have you? Polyester burns slow and melts, leaving a hard black round ash. Nylon melts very slowly and leaves a

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

New gardens or expansion of old ones may bring on problems with soil insects.

Richard L. Miller, Extension Entomologist at The Ohio State University, says an area that has been in sod two or more years can be infested with as many as 10 different soil insects. Naturally, these insects live and feed on grass roots each year, with many of them rarely causing extensive damage, he says. But, when you destroy the sod to make room for a new garden or to expand your old one, these insects (in the soil) will complete their development on the roots of your vegetables, Miller says.

To prevent damage to vegetables, the soil should be treated as soon as weather permits working the soil with an insecticide such as chlordane. Plow or spade the garden area soil. Then apply chlorane at the rate of 4 tablespoons of the 72 per cent liquid concentrate per 1000 square feet of garden soil. Mix the four tablespoons of chemical in enough water to thoroughly cover the 1000 square foot area. Work the insecticide into the soil two to five inches. If chlordane is used, all vegetables may be planted safely except carrots and pumpkins, Miller says.

Spectracide (25 per cent liquid concentrate) may be used instead of chlordane. Use this one at the rate of 12 tablespoons per 1000 square feet of garden soil. Do not plant eggplants, pumpkins, or rutabagas in spectracide treated soils.

Spectracide controls insects in the soil for one season, while chlordane will do the job two or more years.

Bulletin 498, Home Vegetable Garden Insect Control, available at the County Extension Office, contains this information and other vegetable gardening insect control information.

hard grey ash. Acrylic will burn and melt, leaving a hard black ash, a bit more quickly than polyester. Acrylic will turn a darker shade if you put a hot steam iron on it.

This is supposed to be spring, the season of cleaning products and handling pesticides around many homes. At any time of year, most families have poisonous products around the home that can harm or kill children. Special hospitals and clinics in Ohio serve as "Poison Control Centers" where you can call for the latest information in case a family member has somehow taken a poisonous product. The nearest to us is the Poison Control Center at Children's Hospital, 561 S. 17th Street, Columbus. In case of poison, call 614-258-9783. Give the name of the product, ingredients if listed, any label information, and how much was taken (if you know). If you go to an emergency room, take the container with you.

Here's another "no-no!" Did you know that over 13,500 people last year had to be rushed to a hospital for emergency treatment for injuries related to gasoline? We all know how nicely gasoline explodes, but did you know that the vapors can also cause an explosion? The gasoline vapors are so volatile that if a storage can is left open in a closed garage, and a cigarette is lighted nearby, an explosion can occur. Even a spark from a household appliance or automobile engine can start a "vapor" fire. Storing gasoline is a "no-no."

Lady Beetles Invading Homes

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

The Lady Bird Beetle, a beneficial insect to mankind, because of its feeding habits which destroys eggs of aphids and many other destructive plant insects, has turned up in homes, offices and other business places.

According to Lawrence J. Connor, Extension Entomologist at The Ohio State University, warm days during spring have caused the beetles to come out of winter hibernation. Many reports reveal over 100 Lady Bird Beetles per window or room. Some large apartments and office buildings have reported hundreds of thousands of these insects invading the buildings.

Homeowners bothered with the beetles may use a vacuum cleaner to capture the insects, and if enough are available, various garden clubs or individual gardeners will buy them for their own gardens. Commercial concerns may require chemical controls to rid buildings of the beetles.

The entomologist says no one can be sure what caused this increase in beetle activity this spring. He believes the weather last summer and fall favored population development and hibernation in homes and other buildings. Warm spring days are bringing the beetles out of hibernation.

Connor points out that Lady Bird Beetles do not bite, sting, have odor, or contaminate food. In a few days the beetles will find their way outside where they will be beneficial to the gardener.

What about the Lady Bird Beetle being nominated as the official Ohio State Insect? Connor believes the beetles have hurt their chances with their sudden invasion of homes and buildings. Personally, Connor likes the honeybee, because he is convinced that Ohio's agricultural economy would collapse without the honeybee and its tremendous role as pollinator of over 50 Ohio crops.

Toledo Tot Drowns At Turtle Point

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP) — John Kettwig, 2, of Toledo, drowned late Thursday at Turtle Point Marina on Locust Point while his parents were helping a friend repair a flood-damaged trailer nearby.

Authorities said the boy wandered away. His body was found in the water a short time later.

GRADUATE—Paul E. Dean, manager of Landmark, Circleville, (right,) receives a diploma upon completion of the Landmark Store Managers School. John Scrafford, Landmark Farm Supply Division sales manager, extends congratulations. The intensive training program covered management techniques, merchandising, ordering, inventory control and product knowledge sessions. Course instructors were Landmark personnel and other business leaders in the Columbus area. Following graduation the class took a two-day tour of Landmark suppliers' manufacturing facilities. They visited the manufacturers of Co-op tires and batteries as well as Unico stock equipment.

Insect And Mite Pests Affect Livestock Yields

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

It is estimated that livestock pests in the United States cause annual losses of $50 million dollars. Since almost 60 per cent of Ohio's agricultural cash receipts come from livestock production, it is essential that insect and mite pests be reduced below levels that cause economic damage.

The attack on insect and mite pests should be maintained throughout the year. Lice and mites are most abundant during the winter, while flies and mosquitoes are most injurious during the summer months. Louse - and mite-infested livestock rub against fences or buildings to relieve irritation. Frequently, patches of hair are rubbed off around the neck, shoulders, and body. Therefore, cattle become weakened and susceptible to disease.

Some flies either withdraw blood or cause annoyance resulting in up to 10 per cent to 15 per cent less milk from dairy animals and 15 to 55 pounds less weight gain in beef animals. Certain flies transmit bacilli of anthrax, infectious keratitis, mastitis, and swollen joints. Other flies congregate in annoying populations within livestock and poultry buildings.

Cattle grubs cause economic losses each year by damaging carcasses and hides. Female heel flies, in attempting to lay eggs, cause livestock to flee in terror and entire herds may stampede.

Sheep ticks (keds), lice, and wool maggots are parasitic on sheep. Infested sheep rub, bite, and scratch to relieve irritation and annoyance.

Louse - and mite-infested wine rub and scratch, resulting in raw, bleeding areas. The hair coat is lost while the skin thickens into wrinkles, and appears scabby. Swine lice can reduce the market value of the animal two to six per cent.

Chicken lice and mites may reduce egg production 40 per cent. Birds go off feed resulting in decreased egg and meat production. Chickens become droopy, develop diarrhea, or often die.

Horses and ponies are especially bothered with flies during the summer months. Blood-sucking flies can cause stampeding, resulting in animal and human accidents.

Today, with proper application and timing of pesticides, it is possible to greatly reduce or eliminate troublesome insect and mite attacks. The pesticides recommended in bulletin 473 available at the County Extension Office are up-to-date and effective. Since pesticide recommendations are revised on an annual basis, it is essential to use only our most current issue of Extension Bulletin 473. Destroy all old copies of the publication.

Gilligan Names 3 To Boards

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan announced today three appointments to technical institute boards in Ohio.

Gilligan named Glenn Roberts, 46, of Newark, to the Licking County Technical Institute board and Rowland J. Purdy, 51, of Fremont, to the board of the Sandusky-Seneca Technical Institute.

Russell E. Gossman of Lima was reappointed to the board of the Allen County Technical Institute.

Seventy 4-H Junior Leaders from all four school districts in Pickaway County toured the City of Circleville Tuesday, April 9. This tour took them to governmental and service offices of the city and county.

Mayor Frank Barnhill greeted the group at the Circleville Fire Department. The group was then taken through the fire house. Everyone enjoyed seeing all the equipment and learning about the services the fire department offers. The group then toured the Court House learning about the functions of such offices as the Treasurer's Office, Auditor's Office, Recorder, Juvenile Court, Common Pleas Court, and others.

After a break for lunch, the group visited Pickaway County Welfare Department where they learned of the many beneficial services they provide. The Junior Leaders then had the opportunity to talk with the staff of Pickaway County Children Services. The staff explained how they help find homes for orphans, foster homes, help unwed mothers and many other services to the people of Pickaway County.

The Junior Leaders spent the whole day learning of ways Pickaway County and the City of Circleville are really people helping people.

Get big litters of husky pigs... Feed Purina Sow Chow

A sow is a pig factory. She has the big job of producing and nursing two litters of pigs every year.

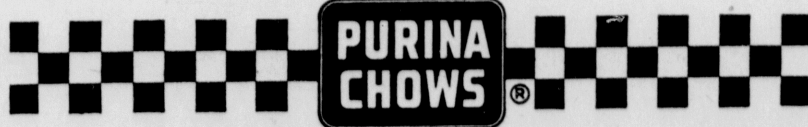

Like any other factory, she has to have raw ingredients to produce the products (pigs) and maintain the factory (her own body). If she doesn't get proper nutrition, she may actually resorb some pigs into her system, causing you to lose pigs you will never even see; or she may farrow weak, unthrifty litters.

Purina Sow Chow has what it takes to help the sow keep her own body, farrow big litters and have plenty of milk to start them right. Purina Sow Chow is available as a supplement to your grain or as a complete sow ration.

A Page Of Opinion

Living Longer At Top

There have been hints from medical researchers in recent years that the old adage about executives having a greater affinity for ulcers than their employees may be short on scientific fact. It could be that under certain circumstances the little fellow worries more than someone on an upper rung of the ladder.

No less an authority on life expectancy than the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. says its studies indicate longevity increases as one rises up through the corporate ranks. Managers age 25-64 have a mortality rate 10 per cent lower than the national average.

Professional and technical people have a 20 per cent lower death rate, according to the insurer. Board chairmen do much better—they have a 31 per cent lower mortality rate. Corporate presidents experienced a rate 42 per cent lower than the average, with executive vice presidents showing the best performance—a 43 per cent lower rate.

The ascendancy of the improvement seems to become unglued somewhere in the upper echelons. When a president has a better life expectancy rate than a board chairman and an executive vice president the best track record of all, the downward side of the peak seems to be reached somewhere in the top offices.

If one assumes the possibility that added responsibility makes for a healthier life, some vice presidents across the land may be wondering how it is they are so healthy and in only number three position on the corporate scale.

French Fry Nixon

ON THE LINE
By BOB COSINDINE

NEW YORK — French officials are sore at us, but then they usually are. The knock this time is directed at our leader, Richard Nixon. A "high official" who must be a first cousin of an "unimpeachable source" felt that it was deplorable taste on Mr. Nixon's part to mingle happily with crowds while in Paris to attend Georges Pompidou's funeral services.

Seems he "shamelessly substituted a publicity campaign for the mourning of an entire nation." The "high official" almost seemed to say that RN behaved as if he was running for President. . . . President of France, that is, instead of staying in Notre Dame Cathedral after Mass.

The President looked buoyant and pressed the flesh of the crowds that swarmed around him probably because that's the first time this sort of thing has happened to him since shortly after his reelection. There were no boos from the excited French people; no banners urging him to drop dead, or worse. There wasn't a single mention of impeachment, tapes, taxes or San Clemente during his Paris weekend. Except for the reason why he was there, the death of his friend, Pompidou, it must have been the most carefree period he's had in all the long and harrowing months since his Keystone Comedy Kops bungled the bugging of Larry O'Brien's office.

Moreover, he did it without coaching from Dr. Kissinger. And the crowds that greeted him were real, not proselytized by Bob Haldeman's people.

One reason for the sour reaction in high places in Paris — Le Monde called it "The Nixon Festival" — may have been a simple case of jealousy. Nixon was the star of the proceedings, just as Charles de Gaulle dominated the dignitaries who attended the funeral of John F. Kennedy. Representatives of the major powers came to his digs in the U.S. Embassy. It was a subtle deference he was shown. They may have had a good line on how badly he has fared of late, but they know by instant and experience where the power still is in this world. So did the Parisians in the streets.

George R. Clark, a 17-year-old black student, is truly one in a million. His recent election by the Boys Clubs of America to be 1974's Boy of the Year meant that he bested the 1,000,000 members of that fine organization who sought the title.

George bested something else: his environment. He lives with his mother and father in one of the roughest and most decadent neighborhoods of Philadelphia. He is one of five children who have been exposed since birth to all the temptations and diseases and violence of kids in today's slums.

But George overcame. He is senior class president at Thomas A. Edison

High School, president of the Black Student Union, sports editor of the school yearbook and is leading the student body effort in a community-wide drive to build a new school to replace the condemned building in which he is getting his education. George has received 15 college offers, though his high school years have been spent in a neighborhood where the annual dropout rate is 30 per cent.

Boy of the Year title brought him a $4,000 college scholarship from Reader's Digest. He has also earned Good Citizenship Awards for his many community services and has been active in various Model Cities programs. He has also found time to earn seven varsity letters in basketball, track, baseball and cross-country, coaches a girl's softball team, plays guitar, drums and

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Watergate committee has obtained the name of the former federal tax official alleged to have furnished the White House with tax data on its friends and enemies.

John Caulfield, President Nixon's former law enforcement adviser, named Vernon D. "Mike" Acree, now the U.S. Commissioner of Customs, as his primary IRS contact.

In two interviews, Acree vigorously denied that allegation, saying he had done nothing "venal or illegal," that he could not be considered Caulfield's prime contact and that the information supplied was similar to that given other administrations over the last 20 years.

He described some of Caulfield's testimony as grossly distorted.

In executive-session testimony taken March 23, Caulfield said he was referring to Acree, until recently the assistant IRS commissioner for inspections, when he spoke of "our capability at IRS."

"By that I mean the capability of conferring with Mr. Acree with a view towards seeing whether or not an IRS audit might be accomplished in a legal method without violating the law," the transcript said.

Acree said he did have what he described as a casual, business relationship with Caulfield during a seven-month period of 1971 and had been aware of White House interest in the tax problems of movie star John Wayne.

And he said it would not be possible to initiate an audit for the White House because normal IRS procedure could not be bypassed.

Excerpts from the transcript of sax, and leads a combo named "The Phonics." He helps support the family by working through his summer vacations.

George is also president of the R. W. Brown Boys' Club Council, a member of the Keystone Club which is composed of older members who take part in community-serving activities (such as trying to clean up his ghetto), and he's a volunteer working in the Club's "Take-a-Brother" program, in which youngsters in need of companionship and guidance are taken into the volunteers' homes. George also helps his mother around the house — a fact that was duly noted when he was presented with the award by President Nixon at the White House.

And that's our "Kids Can't All Be Bad" news for the day.

Caulfield's testimony was provided by a source close to the Watergate committee, who said the allegations are under investigation by Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

Caulfield was questioned about Nixon administration documents made public Monday by Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., which indicated great White House interest in the tax problems of Wayne and evangelist Billy Graham as well as newsmen and critics of Nixon policies.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

We call them honorable when we write to them. They are our senators and congressmen. However, what honor do they have for us, the taxpayers?

Why are we in such a mess on the home front? What kind of representation do we have in Washington? Why can't we be given the truth about our problems? Why don't they speak to us? If they want to take a leave of absence from their responsibilities to the people and line up behind the Watergate Committee to impeach the President, then tell us. We the taxpayers, can then say that those representatives have no solution to our problems and they should be removed from office.

What kind of representatives do we have that they do not have the power to roll back the price on living expenses, such as food, gas, clothing. This is more essential than anything else to maintain the minimum standard of living we deserve.

What happened to our tax money? How much of it went to foreign countries? How much was used here at home and for what?

We want to know. What are you, the congressmen and senators, doing to reduce the prices. We don't want promises such as "I will see to that," "I will do that," "I will investigate that." Either accept the responsibilities of your office or get out.

Tax Revenue Shows Increase

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Income from the state income tax is up 23.6 per cent over last year for the first nine months of fiscal 1974, State Treasurer Gertrude Donahey has reported.

In her monthly fiscal report, Mrs. Donahey said the tax, which is in its second year of collection, brought in $316,197,924 between July 1 and March 31.

Overall tax revenues for the state are running 10.4 per cent ahead of last year, the report showed.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Burns represent one of the most difficult medical problems the physician has to cope with.

One of the greatest combined social and medical advances is the creation of special burn centers, which are responsible for saving the lives of thousands of people all over the United States.

Dr. Charles Baxter, President of the American Burn Association, points out that there are now more than 90 burn centers, devoted to the treatment of severely burned people.

Highly trained teams of surgeons, physicians, chemists, hematologists, plastic surgeons and psychologists are providing new hope for the survival and rehabilitation of victims of severe burns.

Lady Stearn Robinson, the wife of Sir Robert Robinson, a Nobel prize winner in chemistry, has just made her own contribution to science.

She noted that when she wore gold bracelets or rings some marking developed on her skin. Lady Robinson, a mild diabetic, also noticed that these skin discolorations disappeared when she was receiving insulin for the control of her diabetes.

The British Diabetic Association is doing a study on 50,000 of its members to see if there is any substantiation of this interesting observation.

Recently Madeline Glass, a Swiss-born American, also became involved in the better understanding of the relationship between gold and the discoloration of the skin. Her conclusion is that some chemical reaction occurs between the fatty acids of the skin and the metal.

It should be emphasized that unless there is real substantiation of Lady Robinson's theory there is no need for the many women who experience this reaction to be concerned about diabetes.

It takes a few days after a coronary heart attack for the electrocardiogram to show the exact site of the injury to the muscle wall of the heart.

Research at the University of Texas Health Science Center in Dallas now can pinpoint within 12 hours the exact area of the heart that is damaged.

Dr. Frederick J. Bonte and his co-workers have developed a radioactive scanning technique of the heart which may prove to be invaluable in the early evaluation of coronary heart disease.

Nixon And Kissinger Push Middle East Diplomacy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Intense U.S. diplomatic activity is continuing with President Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger focusing on nuclear arms talks and the Middle East.

First on today's schedule was a breakfast meeting at the State Department between Kissinger and Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy.

Following on the list was Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko at the White House for nuclear arms talks with Nixon and Kissinger and a subsequent lunch with the secretary and his aides.

Setting a date for a Nixon visit to Moscow in late June also was placed on the agenda, according to U.S. officials.

Later in the day Kissinger was expected to receive a Syrian delegation concerning the separation of Israeli and Syrian troops in the Golan Heights area.

But discussion of a previously submitted Israeli plan on separation is not expected until Saturday.

Fahmy came to Washington strictly for Middle East talks, probably focusing this time on the ramifications of the Israeli political crisis.

Gromyko's visit also involved the Middle East and the increasingly public role the Russians want to play in an Arab-Israeli settlement.

But equal to if not surpassing the Middle East was the question of strategic arms control and whether a so-called SALT treaty can be signed this year limiting offensive nuclear weapons.

U.S. officials also put on the expected agenda the issue of relaxation of restrictions on emigration by Soviet Jews as demanded by members of Congress as the price for easier policies for Russian-American trade.

On Thursday, Nixon and Kissinger held lengthy meetings with Algerian President Houari Boumedienne on a wide range of subjects, including the Middle East and a resumption of diplomatic relations.

After the meetings Boumedienne said, "All I can say is that these discussions were frank and that they were deep."

The White House also declined to provide details of the meetings.

Senate OKs Campaign Measure, Sends It To House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a sweeping campaign reform bill and sent it to the House, where its chances of survival are in doubt.

Senate passage by 53-32 vote Thursday capped nearly three weeks of debate, with the bill's provisions for government financing of campaigns for federal office the chief issue.

Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., who led the opposition, predicted the fight against the bill in the Senate would strengthen the resolve of opponents in the House.

Except for its public financing provisions, the measure resembles a campaign reform bill the Senate passed overwhelmingly last July.

But the bill the Senate passed then has been stuck ever since in the House Administration Committee.

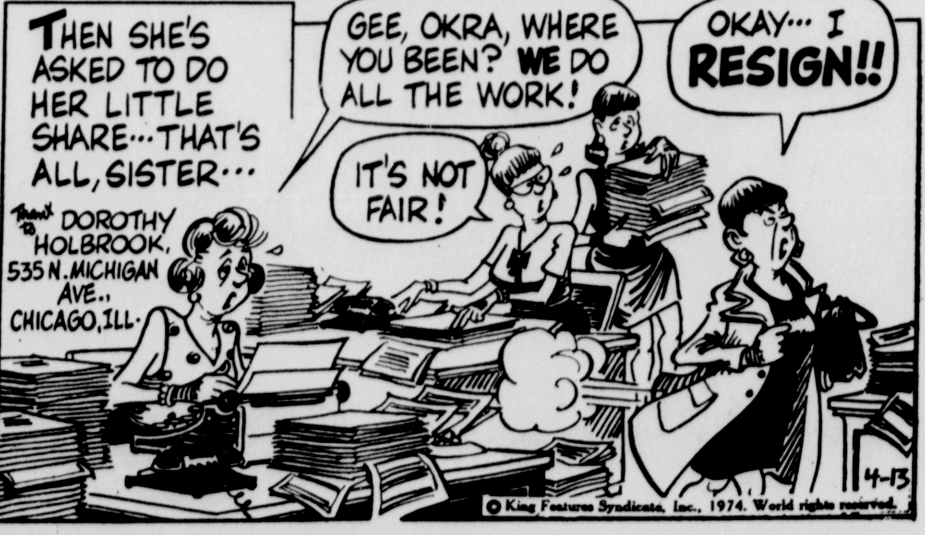

The House committee is working on a bill of its own, which is expected to turn out to be far different from the Senate measure.

Another hurdle for the Senate bill is the threat of a presidential veto.

President Nixon has said using tax funds to finance federal election campaigns would be a raid on the Treasury.

"The single most important action to reform campaign financing should be broader public disclosure," he said. Voting for the Senate bill were 37

Nixon Papers Now Belong To Archives

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Services Administration said today the pre-presidential papers President Nixon donated to the National Archives are government property and cannot be reclaimed by the President.

A spokesman for GSA, parent agency of the National Archives, said his agency considered the gift legally binding, even though a tax deduction Nixon took for the gift has been disallowed by the Internal Revenue Service.

The GSA spokesman said, however, that Nixon probably would be free to sell or otherwise dispose of other Nixon papers and memorabilia being stored at the National Archives but not included in the deeds donating some of his papers to the government.

The spokesman said Nixon would be free to reclaim those papers barring any other legal impediment.

Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., said Wednesday that a syndicate of businessmen, including former Louisiana Gov. James A. Noe, had offered to buy the papers for $1 million.

"I hope the committee that thought he (Nixon) had no right to a deduction for the donation of the papers is equally sure that they are his property," Passman said in a House speech in which he disclosed the offer.

Circleville Chapter OES Discusses Grand Chapter

Members of Circleville Chapter 90 Order of the Eastern Star discussed Grand Chapter Session to be held in October during the Tuesday evening meeting at the Masonic Temple.

Thelma Noecker, worthy matron, extended a cordial welcome to all members. Greeted were: Marie Bennett, Faye Mahaffey, Garnet Reichelderfer, Leona Reigel, Mary Elizabeth Radcliffe, Beverly Currence, Elaine Bowman, Pauline Cook, Chestora Peters and Pauline Hundley, past matrons, and Walden Reichelderfer, Kenneth Reigel and Clarence Radcliffe, past patrons.

In observance of Holy Week, Joseph Peters, worthy patron, read "This Was The Man Jesus" and "One Solitary Life."

During the business meeting the secretary announced she has advance pre-registration blanks for the Grand Chapter Session. Programs may be ordered. Garnet Reichelderfer, past matron, has been appointed by Thelma Noecker to serve as page at the session.

It was voted to send a love offering to Marguerite Kennerdell, most worthy grand matron, for her projects in the General Grand Chapter.

Mary Radcliffe, past matron, presided at a short service at which time Clarence Radcliffe was installed associate patron of the chapter.

Invitations were read to inspections at Heber Chapter on April 18, Royal Chapter on April 22, Lockbourne Chapter on April 29 and Waverly Chapter on May 6.

A letter of resignation was read from Sharon Beadle and the worthy matron announced that at the next meeting on April 23, an election will be held to fill the office of associate matron.

Past Matrons Circle will meet 1 p.m., April 17, at the Ashville Coffee Shop. Hostesses will be Marie Bennett, Faye Mahaffey, Kathryn Reber, Anne Collins and Elizabeth Dunkel.

Lida Ross gave a report of the Franciscan Community Meals project in Circleville and plans were discussed for the Stock Sale Dinner on April 24.

Hostesses for the social hour were Ruth Cline, Donna Foreman and Jean Snyder.

SUNDAY SUPPER

ALMOND MARBLE PIE

Chocolate curls may be used as an additional garnish.

3¼-ounce package vanilla pudding and pie filling

Milk

1 tablespoon white rum

8-ounce container heavy cream

Two 1-ounce squares semi-sweet chocolate

½ cup almond paste

Baked 8-inch pie shell

Gradually stir 1 and 1-3rd cups milk and the rum into the pudding mix; cook as package directs. Cover surface, without pressing down, with plastic wrap and cool completely.

Whip cream until stiff; fold 1½ cups of the whipped cream into the pudding; refrigerate. Meanwhile melt chocolate over hot water; gradually beat melted chocolate and 1-3rd cup milk into almond paste until smooth. Cool completely. Spoon half of pudding mixture into pie shell; spoon half of chocolate mixture on top; gently run a knife tip through both mixtures to marble. Repeat with remaining pudding and chocolate mixtures. Chill. Garnish with remaining whipped cream. Makes 6 servings.

White House Tapes Reply Rewritten

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Republican senator says the White House rewrote its letter responding to a House committee's request for tapes after a warning from Senate GOP leaders.

Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., said Friday that the leaders warned that the first version "would lead to trouble."

The letter was prepared in response to a request for tapes from the House Judiciary Committee and was read to the Senate Republicans Tuesday by presidential assistant Dean Burch, Cotton told reporters.

"It would be asking for impeachment," was the response of one of those present, Cotton said.

A second letter was drafted and read to the GOP leaders, Cotton said, and then sent to the House committee by presidential counsel James D. St. Clair.

However, that failed to satisfy the House group, which is probing the possibility of impeachment of President Nixon, and Thursday it issued a subpoena for the tapes by a 33-3 vote.

Cotton said the senators who met Tuesday with Burch felt the first letter "didn't indicate clearly enough that it was the President's intention to furnish the committee with all relevant materials."

"We felt that wouldn't suffice. We felt it would be taken as a brush-off by the House committee and would lead to trouble," explained Cotton, chairman of the Senate Republican conference.

Cotton said that Nixon hadn't seen the letter because he was en route home from France at the time.

Line Rates To Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many customers who lease telephone lines for private use, including news services and the federal government, apparently are in for big increases in their telephone bills starting Sunday.

"As far as I know it's going in," a spokesman for American Telephone and Telegraph Co. said Thursday night of a proposed change in its leased-line rate structure.

Officials of the Federal Communications Commission, which in January granted a 90-day suspension of the proposed new rates, expiring Sunday, could not be reached.

But with only one business day remaining before the deadline, the commission is down to four members because of three vacancies. This would require a unanimous vote for any action.

The AT&T spokesman said he had heard of no action being proposed. The company could suspend the rates itself until protests against them have been settled, but the spokesman said this was not contemplated as far as he knew.

No SALT Pact, Kissinger Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said today there "would not be a permanent agreement this year" on nuclear strategic arms limitations with the Soviet Union.

In a brief session with reporters, the secretary said it was uncertain whether the United States and the Soviet Union could achieve a partial agreement in strategic arms limitation talks.

This was the strongest public statement by any administration figure casting doubt on the likelihood of a SALT treaty limiting offensive nuclear weapons systems by the end of 1974.

Deborah Ann Luff has recently graduated from Ohio State School of Cosmetology in Columbus. She successfully completed the 1500 hour course which includes the internationally recognized "contour" basic training program as well as extensive advanced training in all facets of hair design, wig styling, hair coloring and salon management.

DEBORAH ANN LUFF

Upon successful completion of the examination given by the Ohio State Board of Cosmetology, Miss Luff will receive a professional cosmetologist license. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Penix of Ashville.

Dennis Victor Shaw, 568 N. Pickaway St., was honored this past quarter by attaining a 3.5 grade point average at Ohio State University. Shaw was also recently notified by the university that he had been accepted into the college of Dentistry for the summer quarter.

Ohio University has announced the names of students who were named to the 1974 winter quarter Dean's List including ten area residents. Attaining a 3.3 or better grade point average on a 4.0 scale were: William Allen Cook, senior, 61 East St., Ashville; Barbara Sue Edwards, senior, Route 2, Ashville; Edward Louis McCord, senior, 274 Plum St., Ashville; Kathryn Ann Farynowski, sophomore, 702 N. Pickaway St.; Beverly Ann May, senior, 481 E. Franklin St.; William Bruce McIlvaine, junior, Route 5, Bell Station Road; David Harlan Stevens, senior, Laurelville; Deborah Lee Richards, junior, Orient; Sally Ann Davis, senior, Route 2, Williamsport; Thomas Patrick Taylor, senior, Kingston.

Named to the Dean's Merit Roll at Miami University was James Patrick Gazdik. This honor recognizes achievement of a scholastic average of between 3.0 and 3.49 on at least 12 hours of credit. Gazdik is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gazdik, 583 E. Franklin St.

JUDITH LEE WILDER

Judith Lee Wilder recently completed the 1500 hour course at Ohio State School of Cosmetology, Columbus. She is now eligible to take the examination given by the Ohio State Board of Cosmetology and upon successful completion of the examination, she will be licensed as a professional cosmetologist. Miss Wilder is the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Wilder, Circleville.

Named to the winter quarter honor's list at Bowling Green State University was June Ellen Brudzinski. Students named to the list must attain a 3.5 or better grade point average on a 4.0 scale. Miss Brudzinski is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve L. Brudzinski, 220 Walnut Creek Pike. She is a freshman at BGSU and earned a 3.73 average during the winter quarter.

Twenty-two Pickaway County residents were named to the honor roll at Ohio State University for the winter quarter. Those honored received an average of at least 3.5 on a 4.0 scale and were enrolled for at least 12 credit hours.

Attaining an "A" average during the quarter were the following seven students: Mark Douglas Lutz, 575 Northridge Road; John Edward Myers, Route 5; Dolores Jean Bihl, Route 3; Edward Earl Conrad, New Holland; Betty Rodgers Kulich, Orient; Celia Gay Wright, Orient; Dona Sue Straley, Williamsport.

The following 15 students were honor roll names: William Samuel Wilson, Ashville; Diana Lynn Pobst, Route 2, Ashville; Benjamin Dudley Radcliff, 630 Ridgewood; Paul Richard Stephens, 520 Lawnwood Court; Robert S. Throckmorton, Route 5; Dennis Victor Shaw, 568 N. Pickaway St.; Michael Teague Henderson, 209 N. Scioto St.; Karen Marie Litten, 350 Walnut Creek Pike; Timothy Laroy Burns, 107 Parkview Ave.; Mark Allen Garner, 127 Logan St.; Teresa Ann Landon, Orient; Cynthia Jean Sheets, Orient; Brenda Cook Uhl, Route 2, Orient; Debra Ann Krahn, Route 2, Williamsport; Dennis Michael Melson, 134 Villa Drive.

Easter Eggs Natural For Hens

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. William Warnke's first attempt at raising chickens was a cackling success. The Boone County farm wife had a complete sellout of her eggs for Easter.

Her hens lay blue, green, pink and gold eggs.

"A lot of people don't believe it even after they've seen them," she laughed. But there is no trick to it.

Her chickens are Araucana chickens, developed in Chile about 1880 by the Araucana Indians. The multi-colored breed was introduced into the United States about 1928.

All her three children have taken the eggs to school for show and tell at one time or the other. Each hen lays only one color, however.

"This was my first attempt at raising chickens," she said. "I wanted something different and when I heard about Araucanas and their colored eggs, I knew that's for us."

How do they taste?

Ohio GI's Remains Discovered

SIERRA VISTA, Ariz. (AP)— Sheriff's Sgt. Frank Peterson said Friday a decomposed body found in an old mine six miles northeast of here has been tentatively identified as that of an Ohio soldier missing nearly six months.

Dental charts and an engraved cigarette lighter found on the body were used to tentatively identify it as that of Pfc. David R. Kyler of Jeromesville, Ohio.

Peterson said authorities will wait until identification is positively established and until a cause of death is established before investigating the case as a homicide.

Dr. Joseph J. Halka, a Tucson pathologist, said it might take a week or more to determine the cause of death. He said there was no positive evidence yet of violence.

Peterson said the investigation is continuing. "But there is nothing positive. We are searching the area for evidence."

Kyler disappeared last Oct. 31 after arguing with his estranged wife, Karen, and a friend of hers at a nightclub here. He was stationed with the Army at nearby Ft. Huachuca and was declared a deserter last month.

Beef Import Curbs May Revive

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new push for curbing imports of foreign beef soon may be undertaken by farm belt members of Congress miffed over an announcement by Canada earlier this week to ban U.S. cattle and beef.

Sources in the Agriculture Department said Friday they "would not be surprised" if momentum gathers in Congress for such restraints. The Nixon administration opened the door wide to foreign beef in June 1972 in an effort to help American consumers faced with high meat prices.

But cattle prices have dropped precipitously since record peaks last summer and are severely depressed in relation to feed costs.

Canada announced last Monday it would bar imports of livestock and meat products unless the government in the country of origin certified they never contained DES, the growth hormone used for years by cattle feeders.

Some pressure already has been put on President Nixon to curb imports of beef, mostly low-grade meat used for hamburger and other manufactured products.

Rep. Bob Price, R-Tex., wrote Nixon on April 8 asking for "an immediate 180-day embargo" on such imports and a return to regular quotas in effect before the recent rounds of suspensions began nearly two years ago.

"Your advisers may suggest that action such as I am requesting might spawn economic reprisals from foreign nations which ship beef into the United States," Price said in his letter to Nixon.

"I do not think this would be so. In the first place, most foreign exporters of beef would like to be able to divert to other more lucrative markets, such as Japan, at least some of the beef they are shipping to the United States," Price said.

Although Price asked Nixon for the import embargo before the Canadian action was known generally, the DES crackdown is expected to stir support for Price's proposal.

Department officials said there was no way the government could provide Canada with the required certification.

One USDA source said Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, now touring the Far East, does not want a curb on beef imports now because it would "set a bad example" for other countries now being urged by the United States to free-up their trade policies.

Also, the source said, there is apprehension among Butz's advisers — and among some farmbelt members of Congress — that a curb on hamburger meat from Australia, New Zealand and a dozen other sources would stir up urban consumer sentiment at a time when the public is being urged to eat more beef and thereby help cattle producers.

Attorney General Aide Talks Himself Out Of Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe's political friend, J.D. Sawyer, has talked himself out of a top Justice Department job and the fancy new office suite Saxbe provided him.

Saxbe has decided to abolish the $38,000-a-year job of associate attorney general less than three months after he appointed Sawyer to it.

Sawyer said he recommended the move because he concluded "there is really no role for the associate attorney general ... if the department is to function effectively and along traditional lines."

By recommending an end to his own job, he became a rarity in the Washington bureaucracy.

Body Of Cincy Man Found By Boy Scouts

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—The body of a Cincinnati man, a patient at the Detoxification Center, was found by Explorer Scouts Friday in five feet of water at the McFarland Woods park in western Cincinnati.

Police said the victim had been undergoing treatment for drinking problems at the nearby center. An autopsy was scheduled to determine cause of death. Police said foul play was not indicated.

The body was found in a drainage ditch.

John Glenn Urges Food Stockpiling

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Democratic senatorial candidate John Glenn said Friday the nation's first objective should be to "establish stockpiles of food so that there will never again be shortages such as we have experienced."

"After our own supplies are assured, we should use our surplus production to seek world markets and provide famine relief," the former astronaut added.

Glenn made the statement after taping a series of television and radio public service spots for the Christian Rural Overseas Program (CROP).

The announcements will be used outside Ohio to support CROP's program of providing food, seeds, agriculture tools and clothing to the hungry and destitute in 30 countries through the World Church Service.

Glenn said he regarded the CROP appeal as especially important because of his concern for the Ohio farmer and his problems and the vital role of food producers to the economy.

Earlier Friday, Glenn criticized Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, his opponent in the May 7 Democratic primary, for being absent when the Senate voted on an amendment requiring federal office holders to file income tax returns for audit.

Glenn said it was a "sad commentary" that Metzenbaum, "who refuses to reveal his income tax returns" missed the vote Thursday on an amendment to a campaign finance reform bill.

The Senate approved the amendment 68-19 and later that day passed the campaign reform bill, 53-32.

A Metzenbaum aide said Friday the senator's presence was not required to pass the bill, which he favored, since the vote was heavily for passage.

Glenn has repeatedly criticized Metzenbaum for failing to release copies of income tax returns. Glenn recently made public copies of his returns dating back to 1965.

Perk Steps Up Activities In Race For U.S. Senate

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland Mayor Ralph Perk said his two recent bouts with pneumonia will not affect his Republican primary campaign for the U.S. Senate.

Perk, who has kept activities confined to the Cleveland area following his hospitalization, brought his campaign to Cincinnati Friday.

"I've never been in better health," said Perk, adding that the second hospitalization was "my own fault, I didn't take my doctor's orders."

Perk is opposed in the primary by Canton businessman Peter E. Voss. Perk, confident of victory, said he doesn't care which Democratic opponent he faces in November.

"Both have the same problem. Both have tax problems," said Perk of U.S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum and former astronaut John Glenn.

Glenn paid $3,674 in 1972 for unpaid taxes on dividends in 1969 and 1970. He termed the incident an "accident" because he said his Texas-based accounting firm was unfamiliar with Ohio's intangible tax laws.

Metzenbaum has placed $118,000 on deposit while fighting an Internal Revenue Service decision concerning back income taxes.

"They all say it's their accountant's fault," said Perk. "Everybody blames it on their accountant."

Perk said he will release his income tax returns this weekend to the public.

"I don't have an accountant," he said.

"We need a strong voice in the U.S. Senate from someone with the experience of a mayor in urban problems," Perk said. "And, I believe, I could be that strong voice. Very few people in Washington understand urban problems."

As mayor of Cleveland, Perk said, "I have solved some sticky problems."

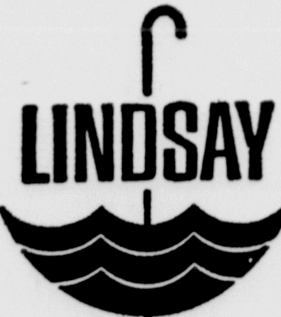

22 White Rhinos Set To Arrive At Cincinnati

KINGS MILLS, Ohio (AP)—Twenty-two white rhinos weighing a total of 35 tons are expected to arrive at Greater Cincinnati Airport about April 25 and be transported to the new Lion Country Safari here at Kings Island Amusement Park.

The park brought in 22 lions last month.

The rhinos were brought to Durban, South Africa from the Natal Province Parks Board and purchased by the park for about $42,000.

A decade ago, white rhinos were threatened with extinction. Efforts by South African game reserves to increase their populations were so successful authorities have been forced to look abroad for potential homes for the rhinoceroses.

Disaster Aid Bill Delayed By Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation that would provide increased federal aid to victims of last week's tornadoes in the South and Midwest has been put off until after the 10-day Easter recess of Congress.

Meanwhile, President Nixon added West Virginia and Illinois to the list of states eligible for existing aid programs, increasing the total to eight states.

The chance of final congressional action before the recess vanished Thursday when the House unanimously passed a substitute to the Senate's disaster relief measure. This puts the issue into a House-Senate conference committee, which will meet after Congress reconvenes April 22.

A few hours earlier, the President declared Illinois a disaster area because of damage from the April 3 tornadoes and put West Virginia on the list because of "severe storms and flooding" beginning about that date.

Other states eligible for disaster aid are Ohio, Kentucky, Georgia, Indiana, Alabama and Tennessee.

The cost of the congressional program, which would apply to disasters generally as well as to the states hit by the recent tornadoes, is estimated at $75 million a year.

The House bill would include mudslides, not listed by the Senate, among the disasters that would make victims eligible for federal aid.

In another addition to the Senate bill, the House voted to allow the President to lend states the 25 per cent they would have to contribute to a program allowing up to $5,000 of additional aid to victims who had exhausted all other forms of relief.

Both bills provide federal grants for making dwellings immediately habitable, loans to local governments for up to 25 per cent of their annual operating budgets to cover tax losses due to storms, rent and mortgage payments for storm victims and federal funds to meet 100 per cent of reconstruction costs of public buildings.

Dear Abby:

Don't Hurt Hostess

DEAR ABBY: Here are the facts: A lady was invited to a dinner party. While being greeted by her hostess, she saw a guest whom she had good reason to dislike intensely. She turned around and left immediately.

We (her friends) are divided in our opinions. Some of us think she should have stayed and ignored the guest she disliked. Others say she was justified in leaving.

DEAR DIVIDED: Offhand, out of consideration for my hostess I'd probably have stayed and avoided the guest I disliked. But what I would have done cannot be used as a fair criterion. For that I would have to have walked for at least two miles in that lady's moccasins.

DEAR ABBY: Please help settle a dispute between my husband and me. We've been married a year, and until last week everything was fine. Last Saturday night we were invited to a party at some friend's house. I bought myself a new dress for the occasion. It had a plunging neckline, and as I am sort of bosomy, it was a little revealing.

I thought it looked good. However, when I put it on, my husband refused to take me to the party unless I changed to something more conservative. Well, I refused, so we ended up staying home.

I think my husband is wrong in dictating what I should wear. I am young and pretty and enjoy admiring looks from other men. Is this so wrong, Abby? I could understand my husband's objections if I were too fat or old to wear a dress like that.

He said he wanted to protect me from unwanted advances, and secondly, he wanted me all to himself; he doesn't want other men to see that much of me. What do you think of this?

This is his first year as a baseball coach, and he expects us to sacrifice our hair for baseball, although this college offers no scholarships, and the team agrees that they would give 100 per cent at all times. We can't see how the length of our hair can make a difference in how we play.

In order for our college to play baseball we must have at least 15 guys out, and when the coach makes such stiff rules, it causes some guys to quit. This in turn hurts the school's chances for a winning team.

What's your opinion, Abby?

"A DELICIOUS DIVISION OF VAN-ORR FOODS"

Padres Top San Francisco

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

The San Diego Padres finally did something they'd been unable to do all year, the Pittsburgh Pirates still can't do it.

Cincinnati's Merv Rettemund hit a big one Friday night in Atlanta, a grand slammer.

Not that the Reds exactly needed it. They beat the Braves' brains out, waltzing to a 14-2 victory.

The Padres, the whipping boys of the National League until now, finally put some clutch pitching, hitting and fielding together for nine innings and got their first victory of the season, beating San Francisco 3-2.

The Pirates are still looking for their first victory, though. It took them 11 innings to lose their fifth of the year, a 7-6 thriller to the St. Louis Cardinals.

Al Downing of Los Angeles gave up another homer. The first, of course, was Aaron's momentous 715th. The second was Lee May's three-run bomb that carried Houston to a 5-3 victory over the Dodgers in the night's only other National League game.

Reds 14, Braves 2

While Rettemund was hitting his 52nd career homer, Aaron was doing what he's been doing all year when he hasn't been hitting homers. He went hitless in three at-bats against Clay Kirby, just as he did last Sunday in Cincinnati ... against Clay Kirby.

The Reds slapped five Atlanta pitchers around for 18 hits. The big one wasn't Rettemund's but Dave Concepcion's, a two-run double in the sixth inning off Ron Reed that put Cincinnati ahead to stay.

Padres 3, Giants 2

Steve Arlin and Vicente Romo scattered six San Francisco hits, calming down a San Diego mound staff that had been shelled for 80 hits and 52 runs in six losing games.

And Dave Roberts, who had given the Giants a run with an error, got it back for the Padres with a game-winning, tiebreaking single in the seventh.

Cardinals 7, Pirates 6

Roberts' three-run homer put Pittsburgh in front 4-2 in the third inning—but two-run doubles by Ted Sizemore and Ted Simmons in the seventh vaulted the Cardinals in front by two.

Doubles by Ed Kirkpatrick and Richie Hebner for a run in the eighth and Richie Zisk's homer in the ninth tied it for the Bucs—but it was only a temporary reprieve.

In the 11th, Tim McCarver, Lou Brock and Reggie Smith singled and St. Louis had the winning run.

Astros 5, Dodgers 3

May's shot off sixth inning wiped out the 2-1 lead the Dodgers had eked out against winner Claude Osteen, who went to the Astros in the deal that sent Jimmy Wynn to Los Angeles. Osteen was shaky and needed relief help. Wynn went hitless.

Dave Stockton Leading Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — He's a scrambler, a spoiler and a scrapper and he's the thunderclap that snapped the 38th Masters Golf Tournament out of its 48 hours of lethargy.

"I don't remind anybody of Ben Hogan," says Dave Stockton, "but I get the job done. Nobody wants to play Jack Nicklaus head-to-head but I like the idea of trying to beat him here, where he owns the air."

Stockton, 32, from Westlake, Calif., with the dark good looks of a Hollywood matinee idol, fired a six-under-par 66 to take the lead into today's third round over the 7,020-yard, submissive Augusta National course.

He provided the shock needed to wake everybody up.

"I am confident," he insisted. "Sometimes I pump myself up and tell everybody I'm playing super. It's just a show because I'm scared. Now I really feel it. I don't feel scared of anybody."

Stockton's 71-66—137, seven under par, gave him a single stroke advantage over Hubert Green and Hale Irwin, each with 68-70, and two shots over the veteran Frank Beard, 69-70, and Jim Colbert, the first round leader, 67-72.

The six-foot Californian didn't have to look much farther back to see the menacing shadows of some of the game's most potent practitioners: the 3-1 favorite Nicklaus, British Open king Tom Weiskopf, Gene Littler, Jerry Heard and Dan Sikes, were all bracketed at 140.

Before Stockton scrambled in near the end of the day Friday with his spectacular round — bouncing the ball off trees, slamming out of constant trouble and fending off disaster with a blast-hot putter — everyone was decrying the fact that no player was making a move.

"So many of us are playing head-to-head, nobody is springing out in front," Irwin said. "There's nobody out there to chase."

Nicklaus, shooting for his fifth Masters crown quickly agreed.

"If somebody shot real well," Jack said, "the others would follow. The course is sitting out there, ready to be taken."

Most of the players and the other observers felt that Big Jack was the man to do it in the closing rounds today and Sunday. Although he has played two rather mediocre rounds — for Nicklaus — the blond bombardier was only three shots off the pace after a 71.

Indians Romp Over Yankees Standings

By BERT ROSENTHAL
AP Sports Writer

What appeared to be a "juicy" rerun of a rhubarb-filled game played earlier this season ... controversial Gaylord Perry of Cleveland and his alleged spitter pitching against the New York Yankees with umpire Marty Springstead working behind the plate ... turned out to be just a relatively "dry" run.

Not once did Springstead formally charge the Indians' balding right-hander with wetting his pitches Friday night — as he had done on opening day when the Yankees beat Perry 6-1 in New York.

Springstead questioned only one pitch, in the eighth inning of the Indians' 9-1 romp — their first victory in six games this season. And by that time, it didn't matter. And the home plate umpire didn't even bother warning Perry, only cautioning catcher Dave Duncan that the pitch looked suspicious.

Meanwhile, in other American League games Friday, the Baltimore Orioles downed the Milwaukee Brewers 5-3, the California Angels massacred the Chicago White Sox 15-1, the Boston Red Sox beat the Detroit Tigers 6-3, and the Kansas City at Minnesota game was postponed because of wet grounds.

The Yanks, however, were not convinced of Perry's innocence, charging that he still was delivering illegal pitches.

The Indians clipped loser Pat Dobson for two runs in the second inning, then wrapped it up with a six-run barrage in the fourth, highlighted by Frank Duffy's three-run homer and John Ellis' two-run single. Buddy Bell's solo homer in the eighth completed the scoring.

Meanwhile, Perry — wetting the ball

or not — was mowing down the Yanks. He didn't allow a hit after Bill Sudakis' one-out single in the fourth, and retired the last 14 batters after Roy White led off the fifth with a walk and was erased on a double play.

Orioles 5, Brewers 3

Baltimore took a 2-0 lead in the third inning on run-scoring singles by Al Bumbry and Bobby Grich, then went ahead 5-0 in the fourth on a pair of run-producing wild pitches by Jim Slaton, plus Mark Belanger's sacrifice fly.

Milwaukee battled back with three runs in the fifth and knocked out winner Dave McNally in the eighth. But relievers Bob Reynolds and Grant Jackson preserved the victory.

Angels 15, White Sox 1

Frank Robinson, who homered, Mickey Rivers and Dave Chalk each knocked in three runs as California rattled Chicago pitchers for 16 hits in handing the winless White Sox their fifth loss.

Fireballing Nolan Ryan limited the White Sox to five hits in eight innings.

Red Sox 6, Tigers 3

Bernie Carbo's first grand slam homer of his major league career, in the first inning against Lerrin LaGrow, gave Boston a lead it never relinquished. The Red Sox went ahead 6-0 in the third, chasing LaGrow on Carl Yastrzemski's two-run double.

The Tigers nicked winner Bill Lee for an unearned run in the seventh, then got two in the eighth on Al Kaline's homer.

ABA Plans To Draft From NBA

NEW YORK (AP) — One National Basketball Association owner called the surprise move "ingenious," a player representative said it "offends us," and NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy pleaded "no comment."

That reaction came to an announcement Friday that the American Basketball Association would conduct a draft of NBA players next Wednesday just prior to its annual draft of college eligibles.

There was speculation that the move was spawned in part by the neophyte World Football League's success in spiriting away established National Football League players. The WFL conducted a similar draft recently of NFL players.

"Once I heard of the WFL plan, I expected something of this nature," said Sam Schulman, the owner of the Seattle SuperSonics who has pilfered his share of ABA talent, including Spencer Haywood from the Denver Rockets. "I'm surprised they didn't do it sooner."

The draft will take place in five rounds and will be the first time either league has formally picked the other's players. Its purpose apparently is to prevent ABA teams from competing with each other for NBA talent.

"In one way it is a positive step," said Larry Fleisher, executive director of the NBA Players Association. "But their way of doing it offends us. The ability of a player to go where he wants should not be limited by a draft."

ATLANTA (AP) — Cincinnati Reds outfielder Pete Rose, 1973 National League Most Valuable Player, said he has been contacted about playing in the proposed World Baseball League.

Rose said he heard from the league through Washington D.C. attorney Jerry Kapstein, an agent for professional athletes.

Rose said he was vague about the details but said Kapstein had been contacted "by a guy named Downey," Morton Downey Jr., son of the singer of the 1940s.

Rose said no figure was mentioned but he was asked if he would be interested in playing for the WBL's Columbus, Ohio franchise.

"I'd have to be crazy to tell you I wouldn't consider some unbelievable figure," said Rose.

Ohio U Holds Lead In Golf Tournament

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP) — Ohio University holds a fourstroke edge over Ohio State University heading into today's final round of the Ashland College Invitational Golf Tournament.

Ohio U. had a 381 team score to 385 for OSU after Friday's opening round.

Bowling Green was third in the university division with 387, followed by Kent State 391, Marshall 395 and Toledo 396.

Celina Race Driver Convicted In 'Fix'

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A Celina, Ohio harness driver was convicted of fixing a race at Latonia Race Course Nov. 31, 1973 and a Flushing, Ohio trainer is scheduled for trial later this month.

Stephen Andre Martz, 21, was fined $750 in Boone County Circuit Court after pleading guilty to a lesser charge of fixing a horse race. He was originally charged with accepting a bribe.

Trainer Carter Alexander Howell, 37, accused of paying a bribe to fix a harness race Nov. 9, 1973, will be tried later this month, court officials said.

Bill Kennon Quits As Massillon Coach

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP) — "It's time to move on," Bill Kennon said Friday in announcing his resignation as basketball coach at Massillon Washington High School. He gave no other reason for his action.

Coach of the Tigers since 1970, Kennon reportedly was looking for a new job and had several offers. He had a 53-34 record here, including a district championship in 1972.

Cincinnati Reds Bomb Atlanta, 14-2

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — "I can do something Hank Aaron can't do," said Cincinnati's Merv Rettemund. "I can remember every home run I ever hit."

Rettemund certainly ought to remember the one he hit Friday night. It was a grand slam blast that boosted the Reds to a 9-2 lead over the Atlanta Braves. The Reds went on to win the National League baseball game 14-2.

"I wasn't swinging well tonight, so I really don't know how I got that one," Rettemund said.

Rettemund's grand slam and Dave Concepcion's four hits in five trips to the plate, led Cincinnati's 18-hit assault that buried the Braves.

Clay Kirby, who had held Aaron hitless last Sunday, did it again, striking him out once and getting him on two routine fly balls to left.

Kirby, 1-1, permitted the Braves single runs in the fifth inning on Johnny Oates' sacrifice fly and in the sixth on a wild pitch.

Johnny Bench hit a home run in the fourth for the Reds' first run. Then they jumped on Ron Reed, 1-1, for three in the sixth on two walks, a double by Concepcion and Ken Griffey's single. Hits by Pete Rose and Joe Morgan and Dan Driessen's forceout grounder accounted for one run in the seventh. Then Tony Perz hit a groundrule double, Bench walked intentionally, loaded the bases, and Rettemund hit his homer to left.

The Reds added another seventh-inning run and got four more in the ninth.

Braves Lose To Celtics-- Or Did They?

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

Time just ran out on Buffalo Coach Jack Ramsay's 4-year-old child. Or did it?

Ramsay, acting the part of a disappointed parent, fussed and fumed, then filed an official protest Friday after the Braves were apparently eliminated from the National Basketball Association playoffs by Boston 106-104.

The Celtics, who are scheduled to move on to the Eastern Conference finals against New York Sunday, won the game when Jo Jo White connected on two free throws, standing by himself on the court and no time left on the clock.

"You don't end a playoff series on a foul like that," Ramsay said after the game and before he'd seen the video tapes. Then, after Ramsay checked the tapes, a Braves' spokesman said a telegram was sent to NBA headquarters protesting the game.

"There was a gap of about two seconds after the alleged foul when time was allowed to run out," Ramsay said. "I believe the game should be re-started with two seconds remaining."

New York clinched its berth in the Eastern Conference finals by beating the Capital Bullets 91-88 in a series that had gone down to its seventh game.

Indiana also clinched a West Division final berth in the American Basketball Association Friday by beating the San Antonio Spurs 86-79. Indiana will travel to Utah today to begin the division finals.

In other games today, the Kentucky Colonels and New York Nets open their ABA East Division finals in New York, and Detroit and Chicago decide the winner of their NBA Western Conference semifinal series at Chicago.

Goalie Hits Referee

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Atlanta Flames are going down, but never let it be said they didn't go down swinging — at referees as well as opponents.

"I admit I hit the referee," said Atlanta goalie Dan Bouchard after his team's 4-1 National Hockey League playoff loss to Philadelphia Friday night.

"If he had been a good, competent ref, I should have been thrown out of the game."

Referee Pete Newell did not banish Bouchard after the second-period incident, which may have been even crueller punishment. The Flames now trail 3-0 in the best-of-seven series and face elimination Sunday night at home.

The other three NHL playoff series resume tonight. The Montreal Canadiens visit the New York Rangers after splitting two games in Montreal, the Boston Bruins take a 2-0 lead into Atlanta against the Flames, and the Chicago Black Hawks, leading 2-0, visit the Los Angeles Kings.

Twin Bill Sweeps Mark Big Ten Action

Northwestern racked up 24 runs to join Michigan State and Wisconsin in doubleheader sweeps as the Big Ten baseball season got under way.

The doubleheader between Illinois and Michigan was washed out by heavy rains.

Gary Nolan Consults Hometown Physician

CINCINNATI (AP) — Gary Nolan, complaining of continued arm pain, has returned to his home in Oroville, Calif. to consult a physician there, according to Cincinnati Reds President Bob Howsam.

Nolan, complaining of arm pain, won 15 games in 1972 and only pitched 10 innings last season. Nolan underwent surgery over the winter.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our wife and mother Mary Bandy at Easter.
His Rest Most Gracious Heavenly Father.
Heaven is a place for mothers like you.
As a wife you were always so faithful and true.
As a Grandma you always did your best.
And until you did you just wouldn't rest.
As a sister you were always so kind and sweet.
And on this Easter you'll be adored

Views On Television

Those who care more for the silver screen than baseball will be happy to know the A.C. Nielsen ratings say last week's Academy Awards show on NBC was a far bigger TV draw than history at bat.

The Oscar ceremonies were seen in an estimated 24.3 million homes, compared to the 17.3 million homes the ratings people estimate were tuned to NBC between 9 and 9:30 p.m. EST, when Aaron broke Ruth's record.

CBS' fine news special for kids has a particularly timely study coming Saturday at 1 p.m. EST. It's called "What's Impeachment All About" and it's a good effort, considering its intended audience.

It aims at defining both the process of impeachment and the complicated issues in the possible impeachment of President Nixon.

Some parents may object to one very brief excerpt in which an auto worker says, "Our President is a damn crook and we all know it." But that's immediately followed by the President's own rebuttal.

It's strong material, but worth viewing, even by grownups who feel they've already been told more about impeachment than they care to know.

Rhodes Returns Realtor's License

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Former Gov. James A. Rhodes gave up the fight to keep his real estate broker's license Friday, saying he could not expect "fairness or justice from a politically motivated Real Estate Commission."

Rhodes, who is seeking the Republican gubernatorial nomination in a move for an unprecedented return to the chief executive's office, sent the disputed license to the commission with a request it be canceled immediately.

The former governor said the public interest would not be served by a "prolonged fight over such an unimportant issue."

He said he has never used the license since obtaining it more than three years ago and did not need it in his business.

The Real Estate Commission had begun administrative procedures to revoke Rhodes' license, contending it had been obtained improperly.

Rhodes has contended the administration of Democratic Gov. John Gilligan, his likely opponent next November, has used the license issue for a political attack on him. He called state Commerce Director Dennis Shaul a "political henchman" and said the commission has "harassed me continuously since I announced as a candidate for governor some 16 months ago." Shaul could not be reached for comment.

Rhodes said he returned the license because he did not want "planned personal attacks" to divert public attention from the more important issues of the campaign.

Rhodes obtained the license four days before leaving office in 1971. He claims he took the examination for the license orally in the governor's office.

The Real Estate Commission contends there are no records to show he took any examination.

The commission also has challenged the licenses of nine other persons, including two of Rhodes' former cabinet members, Fred Neuen-schwander, development director, and Gordon Peltier, commerce director.

Neuen-schwander's license was questioned because he lacked the required two years experience as a real estate salesman. That also was another basis for the challenge of Rhodes' license.

Peltier's license was questioned because, as commerce director overseeing real estate regulation, he helped prepare the examination he took.

City Settles False Arrest Lawsuit

KENT, Ohio (AP)—Kent city officials say City Council has agreed to a $5,000 settlement in a false arrest suit accusing city and Kent State University police of harrasment during an anti-war demonstration in May 1970.

out-of-court settlement was taken Wednesday, based on a recommendation from the city's attorney, Charles Clarke.

The suit had asked $75,000. There was no indication whether the university also would agree to the settlement.

Court records show that the suit stemmed from the arrest of Craig Morgan, former Kent State University student body president; Alan G. Morris, a student from Cuyahoga Falls, and Kathleen Grifoni, a nonstudent.

The suit, filed in 1972, said the three were falsely arrested because they were denied their right of free assembly.

Charges of unlawful assembly against Morgan and of failure to disperse against Morris were later dropped. The Grifoni woman was found innocent of a charge of failure to disperse.

David Warner Wins Symphony Competition

David Warner was named the winner of the senior division of the Young Musicians Competition in Columbus on March 24. The contest was sponsored by the Columbus Symphony Orchestra.

Among the prizes awarded to Warner for his winning performance on the piano was $50 in cash. As a winner, he will also play with the Symphony during a performance next fall.

The 16-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Jack Warner, Route 2, Ashville, is a junior at Teays Valley High School.

Kissinger, Syrian Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is meeting with a Syrian official in an effort to find out if a troop separation in the Golan Heights can be worked out.

Today's session with Brig. Gen. Hikmat Chehabi, the Syrian military intelligence chief, is expected to provide an assessment of the disengagement proposal brought to the State Department by Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan on March 30.

Even more important, perhaps, are the insights Kissinger could gain about the effects of pressures by the Soviet Union on its Syrian allies.

Kissinger already has found that Moscow will not give him the elbow room that led to an interim settlement in January between Egypt and Israel. In the course of working out that disengagement, Kissinger was able to coax President Anwar Sadat toward friendly relations with Washington and away from rigid reliance on Moscow.

The Soviets are therefore staking out a prominent role in the current negotiations. They received Syria's president, Hafez Assad, on a visit while Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko presents his country's views Friday to President Nixon and Kissinger.

Some western diplomats believe the Kremlin is trying to force the negotiations back to Geneva where the Soviet Union, as a co-chairman, can have a powerful influence on any settlement.

Gromyko, meanwhile, somberly told newsmen after seeing Kissinger that the Middle East situation is "complicated."

Stolen School Bus Recovered

A school bus stolen from the Mayfield Heights School District in Cuyahoga County was recovered at 5:30 a.m. this morning by the State Highway Patrol. Sgt. Ronald Thompson of the Circleville patrol post said he noticed the school bus going south on Route 23 just north of South Bloomfield.

The officer observed the bus more closely and saw it did not have any marker lights. He said he also thought it was a little early on a Saturday morning for the bus to be out. He then stopped the bus and called in a check on it.

Driving the bus from the Cleveland suburb was a juvenile accompanied by another juvenile. Sgt. Thompson found through the stolen motor vehicle that the bus had been taken from the school between 9 p.m. Friday and 1 a.m. this morning.

The two youths, ages 14 and 15, were apprehended and taken to the juvenile authorities in Columbus where they were charged with auto larceny. Both were from Highland Heights, near the same area as the school bus was stolen. Sgt. Thompson said neither of them had an operator's license.

Tradesmen Can't Veto UAW Pacts

DETROIT (AP) — A United Auto Workers review board has ruled the union's skilled tradesmen do not have the power to veto a national contract but do have the right to vote separately on agreements.

The UAW's Public Review Board made the 5-2 decision in a dispute involving skilled tradesmen and the union over a national contract negotiated last fall with Ford Motor Co.

The 28,000 Ford tradesmen contended they vetoed the Ford-UAW pact when they voted nearly 3-1 against it. But the contract was approved by 157,000 production workers by an even wider margin and the union's International Executive Board declared the pact ratified.

Despite that ruling, however, the executive board went back to Ford and renegotiated a section of the contract concerning voluntary overtime to which the skilled tradesmen objected.

The review board held the executive board acted properly and ruled in favor of the UAW-Ford pact. Its findings are final.

The review board is made up of seven prominent public members who serve independently of the union. It was set up in 1957 during the administration of the late Walter P. Reuther to hear appeals from executive board decisions.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Spring continues over Ohio with overnight readings in the 50s and 60s and highs today forecast to reach the 60s and 70s. To complete the picture, a few scattered showers fell during the night and more were expected today.

A spring storm centered in the upper Great Lakes continued to pull warm, moist air off the Gulf of Mexico across Ohio. Brisk southerly winds were to be accompanied by occasional showers and scattered thundershowers through Sunday.

Temperatures were to remain mild Easter Sunday with readings in the 60s north to around 70 south. Lows tonight were to be generally in the 40s to the low 50s.
